School Board Meeting Thursday Night To Consider Reorganization of Staff

Superintendent Paul Houston's thoughts about transferring principals and creating a new curriculum co-ordinator position will be laid before the school board - and what promises to be a sizeable audience - this Thursday at 8 p.m. in Community Park School. (For early citizen comment, see "Mailbox," page 19.)

In addition, the board will act on reducing the tenured and non-tenured staff in the procedure known as "riffing," from the initials for "Reduction in Force," and will also act on non-tenured staff whose contracts simply aren't being renewed. These staff decisions must be made by April 30 under state law.

Because a few last-minute ends remain to be tied, the board is expected to go into closed session for an estimated 15 minutes shortly after the routines of minutes and bill-paying, emerging to continue the public meeting.

As usual when "riffing" is being done, administrators say they cannot say how many teachers are involved because the number changes daily. Dr. Paul Jennings, assistant superintendent, said this week that one teacher is still considering whether to ask for a leave.

If this teacher does go on leave, another teacher will not have to be "riffed." If the teacher stays, it's a question of two people and only one job, and "riffing" is invoked.

Often, Dr. Jennings pointed out, people "riffed" now are called back in the summer because of the shifts caused by leaves of absence, additional resignations, unexpected moves out of the community, and so on.

Very few, possibly only one or two, of the tenured staff are involved in any reduction in force.

Dr. Houston's plan to make what he calls "a major change in administrative leadership" reportedly involves transferring Lloyd Taylor, now principal of Littlebrook, into the new position of Director of Elementary Education.

In that role, he would, in Dr. Houston's description, "monitor, support and co-ordinate the elementary program." The new job would be made possible by eliminating one assistant principalship at the high school. Dr. Houston points out that his high school study, released last fall, "indicated that the (high) school was overstaffed administratively."

In the chess moves that would follow Mr. Taylor's re-assignment, George Petrillo would move from the high school to the principal's chair at Littlebrook. It is believed that Murray Cohen, now principal of Johnson Park, would become principal of Community Park; Norma Gumbiner, now at Riverside, would become principal of Johnson Park and Eugene Biringer, principal of Community Park, would move to Riverside. William Johnson would remain at the Middle School. It is not known how the vacant high school principalship would be filled.

Democrats Will Not Oppose Cawley for Mayor; Vote on Consolidation a Factor in Their Decision

For the first time in memory - including the 33-year-long span of retiring Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney - there is only one candidate for mayor of the Borough.

Democrats announced this week that they are not running anyone against Republican incumbent Robert W. Cawley.

The possible consolidation of Borough and Township apparently affected the decision. Mr. Cawley, when he announced that he would run again for mayor, said "If consolidation is voted in, I'd like to be part of that transition."

"We asked ourselves," said David Klein, president of the Princeton Community Democratic Organization, "whether anyone could mount a successful campaign against a very popular incumbent who has pointed out that it might well be a transition job only."

"Is it fair to ask someone to launch a long, difficult campaign for an interim position?"

Consolidation of Borough and Township will be on the ballot this November. If voters approve the merger, elected officials will serve through 1980. The governing body and mayor - if that form is voted in - would take office January 1, 1981.

Mr. Cawley will be entering his third four-year term. He first served a two-year term, before the state law for Borough mayors' terms was changed.

He said he was surprised by the Democrats' decision, then added, "I'm pleased."

Although the mayor's seat will go uncontested, there will be contests for the two seats on Borough Council.

Democrats have announced the candidacy of Barbara Hill, who will be the running-mate of Martin P. Lombardo. He is running for his fourth term.

Republicans will have Gary S. Grover as the running-mate of incumbent Richard Woodbridge.

The deadline for filing for the June primary is this Thursday. In the Township, Republican George Adriance and Democrat William Starr have already announced that they will run.

Borough Democrats, who cannot run Mr. Cawley's name in their column by law, face the possibility of a primary write-in who would then become the party's lawful candidate, whether the party wanted that person or not. Mr. Klein said the Democrats are aware of this possibility and will have a strategy to meet it.

Mrs. Hill, who is chief administrator - "master" - of the Princeton University Graduate College, has been active in Democratic affairs for some years, and is assistant treasurer of the PCDO. She was one of the key people in last year's Macgill-Wallack campaign and has served as a Democratic County Committeewoman.

At present, she is an alternate on the Borough Zoning Board and was on the Joint Civil Rights Commission. She has lived in Princeton, "off and on," she says, for the past 13 years. Her address is Pyne Tower.

Mr. Grover is a Princeton native, a member of the class of 1962 at Hun School, where he won 10 varsity letters spread among football, baseball and basketball. He is a member of the Joint Recreation Board and was founder of the Princeton (Nassau) Soccer Association.

With his father, Raymond, and brother, Jeffrey, he is an owner of the Grover Taxi Company. Before returning to Princeton, he spent over five years in Savannah, Georgia, as subcontract administrator for Grumman Aerospace Corporation. He lives at 16 Chestnut.

Reports Show Consolidation Would Aid Most Municipal Services

The reports of the Consolidation Study Commission's sub-committees continue to move along the track toward the mid-May deadline for a preliminary report.

This Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Jewish Center, the discussion of a possible form of government, if Princeton voters decide Borough and Township should be merged, will continue.

Before that, however, the Commission will talk some more about assets and real property, and will learn which Borough and Township ordinances aren't in conflict. The Commission will also hear what would happen to the already-merged school system, in the event of municipal consolidation. The only option, apparently, is how many people would sit on the school board. It is reported that the recommendation will be seven, chosen from the community at large.

This Saturday at 9:30 a.m. in Township Hall, the Commission will consider the bonded indebtedness aspect of consolidation.

Last Thursday, Commissioner Arthur P. Morgan reported that only one of the sub-committees on municipal services and administrative structure, felt that consolidation would cause a loss in efficiency and the quality of service.

That was "Legal Services" whose one committee member, John Bleimeier, suggested that in the long run, legal services would not have the same quality.

Overall, Mr. Morgan reported, committees felt that "there appears to be no serious practical reason why governmental units should not be consolidated." In fact, because of current vacancies and retirements that are coming up, he said, "the next few years offer a particularly fortuitous time during which to consolidate."

The Commission has agreed with the suggestion of co-charman William Selden that the forthcoming preliminary report comment only on the feasibility of consolidation, leaving discussion of intangibles for public comment.

Highlights:

POLICE: Both police chiefs said enforcement would be unified, duplication eliminated and specialization harder to achieve. Manpower capabilities would be strengthened, there could be more in-service training. Present radio communications are "totally inadequate" and would be tremendously improved. The

Dr. Houston concedes that the change is one "which involves some short-range discomfort, but offers the promise of abating the strengths of our administrators in different school settings. This will benefit both individuals and the school system."

He also repeated his comment that the plan "should not be viewed narrowly, or as singling out individual administrators for movement."

"I could have moved individuals without affecting the whole system," he said in a statement released Tuesday. "This plan is for all of us to have an opportunity to become fresh in our perspectives."

combined force of 57 men and women, is larger than the theoretical "textbook" size of a police department for a community of around 27,000, but over a five-year period, attrition would pare this down.

although Township Hall has more parking. If consolidation is voted down, each department has to expand eventually anyway. Borough Hall could be enlarged for $49,375, less than the $68,000 it would take to enlarge Township Hall. Unless there is consolidation, the two police forces should remain separate.

The chief not chosen to head the new department would be "Deputy," with no loss of be assigned to a "crucial" new department of Inspectional Services or to a Planning and Research division which would be vital in the early years of merger. Elmer J. Thompson, director of the New Jersey Police Training Commission, whose wife served on the committee, drafted a proposal for organizing the combined police forces in two phases.

An initial loss of "small-town personal contact" would be regained, the chiefs said, and outweighed by unified enforcement. Both departments were praised by the committee as "highly-trained and competent law-enforcement agencies."

PUBLIC WORKS: For both municipalities, this is the largest department in terms of staff and budget. Since the work load would be the same, there would be no dollar savings, but services would be improved because personnel and equipment would be used more efficiently. The committee suggested moving the consolidated department into Township Hall.

Differences between Borough and Township were noted: garbage collection in the Borough is municipal; in the Township, it is largely done by private contractors. The Township system shouldn't be changed, the committee said, because it would remove the livelihood of the garbage collectors.

The Sewer Operating Committee should be eliminated. With only one engineering department, communication with the Planning Board and a single Zoning Board - instead of two - would be improved.

Because of new and complex state regulations on development, both engineering departments may already be understaffed, the committee suggested. In a consolidated department, the head should be an experienced professional manager, skilled in managing professionals and evaluating their performance. The job would not be so much concerned as now, with performing a great many tasks.

With the future need to rehabilitate in the Borough and build anew in the Township, "a combined public works department would be stronger than the sum of the

THANKS FOR 33 YEARS: Friends of Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney (left)—263 of them—gathered Friday for a retirement dinner in his honor. Mr. Mooney's last day in Borough Hall will be Monday. Mayor Robert W. Cawley presents Mr. Mooney and his wife, Helen, with a scanner, the gift of Borough Council. Guests at the dinner gave the Administrator, an avid golfer, a set of irons, and a collage of snapshots taken during Mr. Mooney's 33 years as clerk and then Administrator. A man who has always frowned on the idea of consolidation, Mr. Mooney was also presented with a passport allowing him unlimited travel across the frontier in the Township.

GORMAN TO LEAVE

PHS Guidance. "It's just not the way of life we choose," said Robert Gorman, who came to Princeton High School last August as the school's first Supervisor of Guidance. He has submitted his resignation.

Mr. Gorman would have been re-appointed if he had remained, according to Assistant Superintendent Paul Jennings. He was chosen from approximately 90 applicants for the post.

Mr. Gorman said that he and his wife plan to return to London, where he served as guidance director for an American school. He had been in a similar capacity in American schools in Brussels and lived many years abroad. He has no special plans about what he will do, he said, except enjoy once again the urban life he and his wife prefer.

"Everyone has been very nice to me here," he remarked, "but Princeton is the only town I know where the main street has only one side."

CAR IS OVERTURNED

By Vandals. "This may be a new trend in malicious damage. I hope not," added Lt. Jack Petrone, as he reported the overturning of a car Tuesday on Oakland Road.

Lt. Petrone said that the owners, whom he described as new residents in the area, heard a noise at 1:10 in the morning. They looked out and saw their small foreign car upended and turned over on its side.

Lt. Petrone said the police surmise that two or three persons got out of their car, saw the small car and decided to turn it over. "We have no idea who did it."

There was slight damage to the side, he said, and the car was towed to a body shop. Ptl. Anthony Gaylord investigated.

The left front window of a 1978 sedan was smashed while it was parked in a Maclean Street lot between 7:30 Sunday evening and 10:24 the next morning. Borough police report the owner is a Witherspoon Street resident.

In another act of vandalism, a 24-inch storm window and a 7-inch inside pane were broken last week at Johnson Electric, 20 Tulane Street, probably, police said, by a large piece of lumber that was found at the scene.

It was reported Saturday morning at 9:13. The smashed window was on the north side, facing the Tulane Street parking lot, police said.

BAINBRIDGE THROUGH?

"No," Council Decides. Bowing to the protests of neighbors and residents, Borough Council voted 4-2 last Tuesday for a cul-de-sac arrangement on Bainbridge Street, instead of a "through" design that would have put the street all the way through to Harriet Drive.

Nelson van den Blink and Richard Macgill wanted the Borough to connect the street with Harriet, and voted "no."

APARTMENT LOOTED

On Witherspoon Street. A door to a Witherspoon Street apartment was pried open last week and its interior looted.

Taken, police said, were a hand-made chess set valued at $250, a $225 stereo turntable, $100 amplifier, $50 lamp, a $25 high school ring and a black leather jewelry box worth $10. Ptl Victor Fasanella is investigating.

An intruder climbed through a ground floor window between 10:30 Saturday evening and 10:30 the following night to enter a student's room in Blair Hall on the university campus.

Stolen from a jewelry box near the window were a $300 quartz watch, a pair of diamond-chipped earrings ($100) and a gold bracelet ($20).

When a student returned to her room in Holder Hall at 3:25 Saturday morning, she discovered someone inside. She described him as an Hispanic male with wavy hair. He told her he was a student and walked out.

Inside the victim discovered the room had been ransacked. There were four occupants who had articles stolen, police said. Three reported check books on the Princeton Bank and Trust missing.

Also taken was an assortment of jewelry, a silver pill box, alarm clock, tape recorder and camera. One of the victims told police the room had been left unlocked at 1:45 that morning.

Forty-five dollars were removed from a cash register and $340 from inside a cigarette machine last week from Pietrinferno's Restaurant-Diner, 173 Nassau Street.

Police report that entry was gained by removing boards from a side window which had been boarded up. The break-in was reported at 6:40 Thursday morning.

Township police report a home on lower Harrison Street was entered while the owners were away and a grey metal box removed. The box contained $5, $2 in silver quarters and a three-cent coin valued at $150.

Police said that when children playing in a field found the box, a neighbor, who had been watching the home, became suspicious. A check revealed that the rear door had been forced open.

Job Byrne Is Doing as Governor Given Favorable Rating by 33% in New Jersey

New Jersey Governor Brendan Byrne's job rating has remained stable, with about one New Jerseyan in three offering a favorable evaluation of his performance in office, according to the latest Eagleton Poll.

The Rutgers-based survey found that 35 percent of New Jersey residents gave the Governor positive marks of "excellent" or "good," while 59 percent gave him negative evaluations of "only fair" or "poor." This is basically unchanged from a January Eagleton survey where negative ratings outnumbered positive ones by a margin of 81 to 34 percent.

Democrats were slightly more positive about Byrne's performance than were Independents or Republicans. Forty-seven percent of Democrats interviewed gave the Governor positive ratings while 49 percent rated him negatively. Negative evaluation outnumbered positive ones by a margin of 66 to 30 percent among Independents, and by a margin of 70 to 26 percent among Republicans.

Garden State residents' evaluations of the New Jersey State Legislature also changed little since January. The April survey found 31 percent evaluating the legislature's performance positively while 61 percent evaluated it negatively. Last January negative ratings of the legislature's performance outnumbered positive ones by a margin of 62 to 28 percent.

THREE ARE FINED

For Careless Driving. Three Princeton area residents were fined Monday by Judge Philip Carchman in Borough traffic court for careless driving.

Kurt A. Rahlfs, 18 Honey Brook Drive, and Robert Strunsky, 10 Academy Street, Kingston, each paid $25, while Gregory M. Triestman, 180 Franklin Corner Road, Lawrenceville, paid $30.

Four were fined for speeding: Barbara G. Hallows, Cold Soil Road, $33; Lucille E. Hendricks, 371 Eggerts Road, Lawrenceville, $20; and Leslie A. Balka, 189 Longview Drive, and Anthea J. Spencer, 16 Charlton Street, each $22.

John Dumont, 583 Cherry Hill Road, was fined $10 for overdue inspection. A second charge of unregistered vehicle was dismissed.

Fined for False Alarm. In Borough criminal court last week, Brian Tadlock, 29 Green Street, was fined $210, received a 60-day suspended sentence and placed on probation for one year for setting a false alarm at Princeton High School.

Tadlock was also charged with seven other offenses, three for possession of a controlled dangerous substance. On one he was fined $60, $35 on a second and given a conditional six months discharge on a third.

One of two trespassing charges was dismissed but on a second, Tadlock was sentenced to 30 days and placed on a year's probation. A $110 fine was suspended. He was given the same sentence, Employees' Purses Stolen. Two employees of Princeton stores learned last week that a counter is not a safe place to store their pocketbooks.

A clerk at Titles Unlimited in the Princeton Shopping Center told police that her pocketbook was stolen last week from a shelf behind a counter sometime between 9:30 and 4:45. It contained $20; her total loss, police said, was $45.

An employee of La Shack, 20 Nassau Street, reported that some time before 2:40 Friday afternoon, someone removed her purse from a counter. Inside was a wallet containing $15.

While playing tennis at the university courts near Brokaw Field, a student last week left his wallet next to the fence. When he returned, it was gone. He lost $20 and credit cards.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

DUTCH ELM DISEASE: GOOD NEWS AND BAD NEWS
with Sam deTuro

Woodwinds Associates

One of the sad sights of spring is a dead or dying native American Elm, once so plentiful and such an integral part of so many neighborhoods, victim of Dutch Elm Disease.

Dutch Elm Disease first entered this country in 1930 in imported logs which harbored Elm Bark Beetles beneath their bark. The Elm bark Beetle kills either by injecting a toxin into the sap stream, or by cutting off the water supply of the tree by feeding and destroying tissue at the twig crotches.

When a tree is weakened, either by lack of sufficient food, drought, root injury, leaf-feeding insects, or even by storms that split crotches, tatter limbs, and wrench loose roots, the first signs of weakness are usually in the upper parts of the tree. At this point the villainous beetle moves in. It is of utmost importance to immediately prune out all dead and diseased wood and destroy it, and equally important to immediately cut down and destroy any dead Elm, or the beetle will spread to other Elms in the vicinity.

The essential steps to follow in treating Elms are: 1) Prune, water well, and feed; 2) spray to contain leaf chewing insects, and 3) keep the tree healthy with a regular feeding program. A healthy Elm can repel Bark Beetles and other destructive insects.

Now the good news: There is widely available in this area a most attractive substitute for the beleaguered Elm...the Zelkova. Native to Japan, it has the same distinctive wine glass shape as the Native American Elm, with large, dark green leaves, which turn an attractive rusty red in fall. The Zelkova is impervious to Dutch Elm Disease and Leaf and Bark Beetle attack. It grows rapidly, is very hardy, and has an unusually desirable branching habit, reaching heights of 50-60 feet.

Homeowners who might be interested in this fine tree as a replacement for a lost Elm, or simply as an extremely attractive addition to any landscape plan, are cordially invited to attend the Princeton Area Arbor Day activities in Marquand Park on Saturday, April 28, starting at 10 a.m. A beautiful specimen Zelkova will be donated to the Park as a part of the program, which promises to be an enjoyable and informative event for all attending.

Survey by Daily Princetonian Claims a Third Of Students Report Having Cheated on Exams

One-third of Princeton University's students have cheated on exams in class during their stay in Princeton, according to a copyrighted story appearing Monday in the Daily Princetonian, campus newspaper. The exact percentage quoted is 34.

The following day, the "Prince" said its findings showed that two-fifths of the students would ignore the requirement that they report honor code violations, and three-fifths said they would not report violations committed by a close friend.

The paper polled 789 students selected at random by a computer from all the undergraduates now enrolled at the University. Of the 789, 519 returned the questionnaire in sealed envelopes. Pollsters regard this volume of response — about 66 percent — as good.

The one-third figure has been questioned by Michael R. Kagay, of the Woodrow Wilson School staff, who said he regarded 34 percent as a possible over-estimate, and suggested an "inflation of between two and ten percent." Mr. Kagay has served as a consultant for the New York Times-CBS poll.

Substantiated by Gallup. George Gallup, when asked to comment on the poll's results and the techniques used, is quoted by the "Prince" as saying, "I see no reason to challenge or doubt the 34 percent figure."

The Honor Committee of the University, in a poll conducted last spring but never released, is said by the "Prince" to have found that only 15 to 20 percent of the students cheated.

Mr. Kagay, advisor for the "Prince" poll, and sophomore David R. Grant, its author, said they thought the reason the results might be inflated is that some students may not have followed instructions. For the question on cheating, students were asked to flip a coin twice. If it came up heads both times, the student was to answer the question truthfully. If it came up heads one time and tails the other, or if it came up tails both times, then the student was to lie purposely — giving the opposite of the truth. The poll, of course, had no way of knowing whether the student was telling the truth or the opposite of the truth, and so the student would be protected and the response completely anonymous.

Without such a device, Mr. Grant explains, respondents always feel their answers can be traced back to them.

The actual number of students who did cheat can then be figured out mathematically. Two heads — the "truth", in this survey — come up once in every four flips, so the number of respondents answering "yes" should be 25 percent of the cheaters plus 75 percent of the non-cheaters. The number answering "no," by the same formula, should be 75 percent of the cheaters and 25 percent of those who do not cheat.

On Tuesday, May 1, Princeton's Outer Loop bus will begin service from the Princeton Shopping Center to Quaker Bridge and Mercer malls. Fare is 40 cents one way. The runs will be made Monday through Saturday.

The first bus will leave the Princeton Shopping Center at 9 each morning. From then on, Outer Loop buses that leave at 11, 1, 3, 5, 7 and 9 — every two hours all day — will go to the malls travelling through town as usual to pick up and drop passengers.

On the return route, Outer Loop buses will leave Quaker Bridge at 10, noon, and so on every two hours until 8 p.m. The last bus will leave Quaker Bridge at 10:15 p.m. and make its last Princeton stop at Princeton Community Village, not at the Shopping Center, arriving at PCV at 11:08 p.m.

The run from Princeton to Quaker Bridge will take 46 minutes, the run back to Princeton will be 56 minutes.

Avenue and this Sunday, from 4:30 to 6:30, there will be a birthday party. (Pick up your invitation at the school.)

For the 37 children -- age two years and four months to five years -- the school is "home," sometimes from 7:30 in the morning when mommie and daddy drop them off, to 5:15 when they're picked up. A two-hour nap, a hearty mid-day meal, juice and crackers and a lot of loving, individual attention fill the long day.

Jean Bosley, apparently born with a smile, has been director since 1973. But she first saw the school when she was six months old, living in the Birch Avenue house where she still lives.

"After I went to school, we always came back here to say 'hello' to Eve Miller -- she was the director then. When I was in Princeton High, I came here as a volunteer, then Early Childhood Education and Trenton State for elementary education and back here in '55 as an aide and then teacher!" And she laughs ... "I'm just so devoted to this place!"

Three Plus Two. Three teachers have 18 students, a comfortable ratio. There is math ("math" at three?) which means teacher asks, "Bring me three blocks." "Now, bring me two more." "How many do we have?" ... and geometry: a clock is round, a paper is a rectangle. "They learn constantly!" Jean smiles. "You know the song -- 'This old man, he plays one ... he plays two?' All the time."

Touch and feel ... It's a blindfold game and you taste a new food. Is it sweet, sour, smooth? You make the pizza for lunch and you get to dump all the things on, counting, naming, calling out the colors.

"We encourage kids to read, but do not force them," the director explains, "about one-third can read when they leave here for kindergarten. My primary objective is to insure that each child has the opportunity to develop a positive self-image within a relaxed, secure atmosphere. That can best be accomplished through a curriculum which allows each child to develop at that child's own rate of learning."

A Good Start. "It really is a good beginning, and some kids feel a regression, when they go to half-day kindergarten in regular school. And after school, if they just have a baby-sitter, they're bored. I wish we could have an after-school program for the kids who've left us!"

It's an international community, with seven or eight nationalities represented. Parents meet once a month and help raise money for equipment or trips.

EXCLUSIVE RIGHT TO SELL

When listing your home with a Realtor to sell, there are a variety of arrangements you can make. But if you are seriously intent on selling your home within a reasonable time and at the price you are asking, it would pay to consider making an "exclusive right to sell" agreement.

This gives the Realtor the right to his commission if he actually sells your home during the listing period, or if another Realtor sells it, or if you sell it yourself.

Under these conditions, the Realtor will have the added incentive and protection to go all-out in heavily advertising your house and showing it to prospects. He will not be afraid of bringing it to the attention of other Realtors who may have qualified prospects. As a rule, Realtors are willing to cooperate and share the single commission. That gives you the advantage of having several Realtors make a determined effort to sell your home.

If you are leaving the area and need information about homes for sale in another town or state—call STONY BROOK REALTY for a free copy of Homes For Living picture magazine for the area you will be moving to. Stop in and see the selection of Homes for Living from 1,800 offices in over 9,000 communities from coast to coast. STONY BROOK REALTY, 35 W. Broad St., Hopewell. Phone: 466-0900 or 737-9150.

BIRD WALKS PLANNED

In Herrontown Woods. The Mercer County Park Commission is sponsoring a "Bird Walk for Beginners" program beginning Saturday, May 5, and continuing every Saturday in May. The walks will begin at 7 from the Herrontown Woods parking lot.

Led by Richard Wood of Princeton, the bird walks will help the beginner identify birds by sound. The walks are open to all age groups. It is suggested that participants bring binoculars, pencil and pad, and, if they wish, tape recording equipment.

For more information, call the Mercer County Park Commission at 989-6530.

Parking Study Delayed, to Start Next Week

The Borough's parking survey will start next mid-week, delayed because the firm doing the study was itself delayed getting postal permits for its questionnaire.

If you park in the Central Business District during the week of the survey, you may find the questionnaire leaning against your windshield when you come back to your car. It will have a postage-paid (hence the delay) envelope inside. You're asked to answer the questions and mail in the envelope.

"Why did you come to the downtown area?" "What was your primary errand?" are the kinds of questions. Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley is urging co-operation; the survey firm hopes to get back 5,000 replies. A preliminary report will be made May 14.

The downtown Steering Committee of citizens will meet again Thursday, May 17, with consultants Venturi and Rauch (the May 3 meeting has been cancelled) to talk about design alternatives. The firm is expected eventually to present some alternatives for the Palmer Square area. These might be concerned with elimination or removal of the PCH elderly housing project from Palmer Square; the size, location and capacity of a parking garage and possibly changes in Palmer Square's own plans.

The firm has already suggested to PSI that one more floor be added to an expanded Nassau Inn to provide apartments.

Opponent of Nuclear Power Coordinating Plans in New Jersey for 'Three-Mile' Protest March in Washington Sunday, May 6

Isabelle Sayen seems, on first impression, to be the prototype of the suburban wife and mother — one who would more likely be found presiding at a garden club meeting than testifying at hearings and speaking at rallies on high cost in human and economic terms of nuclear energy.

And yet, despite an innate shyness and a sheltered upbringing, Mrs. Sayen has become in the past few years thoroughly conversant with the complicated energy problems facing the United States and an outspoken and tireless opponent of nuclear technology to solve those problems. As one of the founders of the New Jersey SEA (Safe Energy Alternatives) Alliance and a member of its coordinating committee, she has worked for a moratorium on nuclear development in New Jersey.

She serves as a liaison with the Public Advocate's office in Trenton on matters of nuclear energy and through the New Jersey CUE (Citizens on Utilities and Energy) represents consumer interests in rate increase hearings before the Public Utilities

OPPOSES NUCLEAR POWER: Isabelle Sayen has become a leading opponent of nuclear energy in New Jersey and travels the state to speak out in hearings and meetings.

Commission. In the wake of the accident at Three Mile Island, she is coordinating got — every door opened arrangements in New Jersey for a "Three Mile March" on Washington on Sunday, May 6, which seeks to "put the nuclear industry on trial" and return a "verdict" to the White House and Congress.

A Vassar graduate whose only paid work experience was in teaching kindergarten at Miss Mason's School, Mrs. Sayen readily admits she had no preparation for what she has become involved in. Busy raising four sons in the 1950s, she remembers having a "gut reaction" to Eisenhower's Atoms for Peace as a contradiction in terms, but she felt that what she thought was not important in the overall scheme of things. In the 1960s she realized others felt as she did about the U.S. government's "illegal" involvement in the Vietnam War.

Educational Process. After the war, with her family growing, she considered spending time in cultural activities, but at the bottom, she says, "you have to leave your space on earth better than you find it."

"When I discovered how many nuclear reactors were going up all around us, and when I learned that there was a group in Princeton called the Citizens for Responsible Power Policies, I decided to join and try to educate myself

No Safe Radiation Dose. Mrs. Sayen speaks quietly and chooses her words carefully as she enumerates some of the hazards and consequences of nuclear technology. Each large nuclear plant, she says, such as the one at Three Mile Island, only 100 miles from Princeton, has a radiation capacity of 1,000 times Hiroshima. No acceptable method has yet been devised to dispose of nuclear wastes which remain radioactive for thousands of years, or to decommission the plant in which radiation builds up and which has a useful life of 40 to 50 years. There is no "safe" dose of radiation, she thinks. "We don't need nuclear energy," she asserts. "The only thing that nuclear power can do for us is to boil water to make steam to drive a turbine and generate electricity. Electricity only provides 10 percent of our end use energy needs, and the 72 nuclear plants now in existence provide only 12-13 percent of that," she says.

"Moreover it takes huge amounts of energy, (and capital) to build the plant as well as in every stage in the nuclear fuel cycle from mining to waste disposal. The net energy gain is only one percent, she maintains. Mrs. Sayen is an advocate of cogeneration and various forms of solar energy to meet our needs.

Comparison With Oz Story. Mrs. Sayen likens nuclear technology to the story of the Wizard of Oz. The tornado that lifts Dorothy out of Kansas and everything she ever knew is the bombing of Hiroshima. As Dorothy tries to find her way out, she is joined by the Scarecrow — representing scientists — and the Tin Woodman — technologists.

Together they start down "the yellow brick road" to the City of Oz where everything will be all right — where there will be cheap, abundant energy for all our needs. They meet obstacles all along the way, much as the development of nuclear power has experienced difficulties all along its 30-year history. Mrs. Sayen cites previous partial core meltdowns at the Fermi Breeder Reactor and at an experimental reactor in Idaho, in which three men died.

At the end, Dorothy finds that the all-powerful Wizard of Oz was really an insignificant little fellow "whistling in the dark." The accident at Three Mile Island, she thinks, drops the curtain and reveals the proponents of nuclear power as also "whistling in the dark," — "very fallible, very confused and avidly promoting a technology that is hideously dangerous beyond anyone's comprehension."

Mrs. Sayen stayed glued to her television set throughout the Three Mile Island crisis. "I was possibly more horrified than the average citizen because I know so much more," she says. She seriously considered leaving her home on Edgerstone Road, knowing it could become contaminated if an explosion occurred, but then she realized that there was no place to go that could not also be reached by radiation-bearing wind and rain clouds.

Urged Evacuation Plan. After the crisis was over, she spoke before an agriculture and environment committee of the N.J. Assembly asking for an evacuation plan that would include every citizen in the state, providing each

AWARD WINNER NAMED By Paul Robeson

Association. In each of the last three years, the Paul Robeson Memorial Association has made an award to a high school junior who, in his or her academic and personal life, reflects the concerns for scholarship, social justice and the development of one's talents which were so much a part of the life of Paul Robeson. This year, the award will be made to Kevin Robinson of Princeton High School.

The Association invites the public to attend a reception in honor of Kevin Robinson on Sunday, at 1:15 at the Paul Robeson Community Center, 102 Witherspoon Street. Presentation of the Award will be made by Glenn Craig, the 1978 winner.

The Paul Robeson Memorial Association members are: Henry Drewry, Doris Burrell, Benjamin Wright, William Johnson and Leon Gipson.

LUNCHEON PLANNED

To Honor YWCA Volunteers. The YWCA will honor its current volunteers at a luncheon on Friday. Nearly 400 women who have worked for the YWCA in the past year received invitations to the event, which also marks National YWCA Week.

person with a card of instructions as to what to do and where to go in the event of a nuclear accident. She urged that the public be informed about the effects of a nuclear meltdown.

Mrs. Sayen has also testified at Nuclear Regulatory Commission hearings in Lower Alloway Township against increasing the storage capacity for spent fuel rods at the Salem 1 plant by "double racking." She has also testified in Trenton before the Department of Transportation against transporting of nuclear wastes through New Jersey.

And she interjected the subject of radiation into the legislature's deliberations on the Clean Air Act. "They were thinking only in terms of hydrocarbons," she says, "and my message is always to bring in the radiation effects from nuclear power which are all pervasive."

Mrs. Sayen regularly attends classes and talks at the Environmental Center at the University and calls Washington constantly to have studies and other materials sent to her. "It is an incredible field to try to master," she says. "But it stretches the mind, and I'm using all my talents."

"There is a feeling of satisfaction in knowing that you are contributing to something you believe in as deeply as I believe in stopping nuclear power."

— Barbara L. Johnson

Souperon Snack Bar, a work-education program at the YWCA, will prepare and serve the luncheon. There will be a display of some of the hand-crafted items the girls have made, and they will present some light entertainment for the luncheon guests.

The YWCA is the largest women's volunteer organization in the world. At the Princeton YWCA a project is underway to see that its volunteers are making the best use of their many talents. The vast majority of Princeton YWCA volunteers work on committees, helping to develop programs for the adult, youth, physical education and other department. Others are assistants in classes, the nursery or the office on a part time or regular basis. Still others are "spot workers," willing to help out when an emergency call goes out.

Continued volunteerism is being emphasized at the Princeton YWCA, and volunteers who begin by helping in practical areas such as filing and mailings are urged to consider involvement on the committee and Board levels. To further this aim, four members of the Volunteer Development Committee, Sally Farrington, Sandy Bernasek, Linda Deardon and Florence Peters, are interviewing each new volunteer to determine her skills and the areas in which they can be best put to use.

HEARTS IN THE RIGHT PLACE: The Jaycees second annual "Cyclethon" Sunday, May 6, will raise money for the Mercer County Chapter of the American Heart Association. The bike rider here is Paul Chesebro, chairman of the Association. Left to right, ready to mount and ride away, are Denise King, co-ordinator of youth groups for the "Cyclethon;" L.L. ("Bud") Vivian, treasurer of the Association; Ed Salkind, a member of the board; Joe Dubee, district executive of the Boy Scouts; Col. John Pope, Rotary liaison with the youth group, Interact and Joe Bendura, chairman of the "Cyclethon."

Ride a bike for your own heart's sake, and to help people whose hearts aren't as sturdy as yours. Maybe you'll win the $100 first prize, or one of the many other prizes.

The second annual "Cyclethon" sponsored by the Princeton Jaycees for the benefit of the Mercer County Chapter of the American Heart Association, will be Sunday, May 6, between 9 and 3. If it rains - Saturday, May 12. All ages are welcome.

chants who are still being lined up.

Get as many sponsors as you can - friends, relatives, business associates, teachers. Negotiate with each how much the sponsor is willing to pay per mile for the 10-mile course. (Actually, it's only 9.15 miles, but that's close enough.) One sponsor may agree on 100 cents per mile, another on 250 cents, and so on.

Here's the way it works. You pick up a "Cyclethon" sponsors form at any branch of First National Bank of Princeton or Nassau Savings and Loan, at Princeton Bagels and Pastry in the Shopping Center, or from other merchants who are still being lined up.

Tax-Deductible. Whatever the amount, it's tax-deductible for the sponsor. On the form you've picked up, you list each sponsor's name and address, and the pledged amount per mile. The $100 prize goes to the bike rider who collects the most. All proceeds, of course, go to the Mercer County Heart Association.

On the day of the Cyclethon, you take your bike and your sponsor form to the starting point and receive a checkpoint card. As you ride along - and we'll tell you the course in a moment - Cyclethon officials will verify your card at each checkpoint.

When you've biked the course, take your sponsor form to each one of your sponsors and show the number of verified miles you biked. Collect your pledge by asking your sponsors to write a check to the American Heart Association and handing it over to you. Return the money within two weeks to be eligible for a prize.

If you don't win that $100, you may win a present or a prize supplied by Hulit's Shoes, Jay's Cycle Shop, Hinkson's, Gallery 100, The Flower Basket, The Music Cellar or Nassau Savings and Loan.

Where to Go. Now, about the Cyclethon course.

The starting point is the Princeton University observatory near Jadwin Gym. The route will take you along Hartley Avenue, Lake Drive, Riverside Drive, Tyson Lane, Shadybrook, Dodds Lane, Bertrand Drive, Herrontown Road, Poor Farm Road, Mt. Lucas Road, Valley Road, Walnut Lane, Olden and back to the observatory - 9.15 miles.

Last year's Cyclethon drew 60 bike riders who raised $3,200, drawing only on the Princeton area for participants. According to the 1977 audit, 31 percent of the Association's money goes to community services for heart screening programs, blood-pressure clinics, heart information centers, rehabilitation clubs and in-

Patrolman, 16-Year Old and Prayer Credited By Minister in Rescuing Him from Drowning

A Trenton minister, who said he was prepared to die after struggling more than half an hour to stay afloat in a private lake near Elm Ridge Park, was saved from drowning last week by a Hopewell patrolman and a 16-year-old Hun School student.

Although The Rev. Wilbert Thomas, pastor of the Christian Alliance Holiness Church in Trenton, can swim, he was being pulled under the surface of Honey Lake as water filled his hip waders. Honey Lake is a 28-acre private lake located near Elm Ridge Park.

When the pastor's cries for help were heard by lakefront residents, one, Lisa Keverian, a Hun School junior, ran to the edge of the lake and jumped in. She was unable to reach Mr. Thomas because of the cold water, but she shouted encouragement to him while her mother called police.

Meanwhile, the 49-year-old clergyman, who said he had been struggling for 30 to 45 minutes some 45 feet from the shoreline, shouted, "I can't hold on any longer. I'm going to die."

He recalled that he had placed the matter in the hands of the Lord when a patrol car drove up and Ptl. George Meyer and Ptl. Kenneth Beckman jumped out. Ptl. Meyer dropped his gun belt and swam in the icy water toward Mr. Thomas.

During his struggle, Mr. Thomas had partially righted his capsized canoe. "Hold on!" shouted Ptl. Meyer, as he pulled the canoe and Mr. Thomas pushed. Finally, both victim and rescuer made it to shore. They were taken to Princeton Medical Center, checked and released.

Mr. Thomas reported that he had borrowed a canoe from friends because he wasn't getting any bites on shore. He capsized the canoe when he reached for a paddle that he had dropped.

Mr. Thomas, who operates the House of Chicken on North Clinton Avenue in Trenton, lives with his wife, Bertha, at 189 Carter Road in Lawrence Township.

Roosevelt School; Dr. Stephen Hefler, pediatrician in Princeton Junction; Ruth Lotz, guidance counselor at Princeton Middle School; the Rev. Leslie Kolbjornsen, associate minister, Nassau Presbyterian Church, and Dr. Margaret J. Shepherd, coordinator, Child Study Center, Teachers College, Columbia University.

Some of the questions that the panel will address will include, what are some behavioral signs in children which should alert parents that all is not well with their child's school functions? and, at what point should a parent intervene in a school situation? All interested persons are welcome.

COURSES ANNOUNCED

Paint and Wallpaper, an at-created a hospitality area with inviting rattan furniture, where you can browse through wallpaper books, consider paint colors and help yourself to tea or coffee; children will enjoy the books and playtime activities which have been thoughtfully provided.

The ownership of Village
Paint & Wallpaper is shared by Al Bowman, Bill Bouterse and Mike Benham, who have a total of 35 years' experience in the paint and wallpaper business.

All three participate in the store's operation, with Mr.
Benham as the store's manager. Village Paint &
Wallpaper also sells paint, wallpaper and related needs to the commercial and painter trades at discounted prices and carries Grumbacher's

wall and trim paints in ready to use colors that can be tinted to make deeper accent shades, and carry an eight year warranty to assure your satisfaction. Glidden's Spred Latex flat wall paint can be used with matching colors in Spred latex low lustre enamel, but either one is suitable for both walls and trim.

Wallpaper. Village Paint &
Wallpaper offers an infinite variety of wallpapers by many different makers. Schumacher's collection, alone, is represented by ten different books. You'll not only find the perfect
wallcovering for your decor, but several appealing alternatives.

You'll find contemporary and traditional patterns in scenics, plaids, stripes, florals and oriental designs printed on smooth paper, textured paper, vinyl-coated paper and vinyl fabrics, and elegant foil effects on mylar and vinyls.
You can have the scenic sweep of a stylized mural or a photo
mural, or a small stenciled

design; vivid splashes of color or delicate pastels. You can choose a stately documentary pattern or a whimsical theme for a child's room.

Many of the wallpapers are available in coordinated patterns such as a flower print with matching trellis design or a large floral bouquet with matching small scattered flowers. Many lines of wallpaper are shown with companion fabrics in washable cotton or polyester and cotton for drapes, bedspreads and slipcovers. Some wall coverings are pre-pasted,
washable and strippable;
most require a wallpaper
adhesive.

Supplies and Services.
Everything you need for wallpapering and painting can be found at Village Paint & Wallpaper - brushes and rollers, scrapers, drop cloths, wallpaper adhesives, masking tapes, paint thinners and strippers, wooden stepladders and aluminum extension ladders. A Wallpaper Clinic is conducted when 15 people have signed up for it, on an evening agreeable to all. A film showing the technique for hanging wallpaper is presented and questions are answered by experienced paperhangers.

CURRENT FAVORITES of children are these Muppet Dolls by Fisher-Price at the C & M Toy Store, where Carmen Patruzzelli is owner. The store also has a large variety of games, crafts and toys for children, toys and furnishings for infants, and children's party accessories with popular themes.

It's New to Us

store with a comprehensive variety of toys, games, puzzles, crafts, dolls and stuffed animals for children, toys and furnishings for infants, and children's party accessories.

The store just opened at The Village Shopper, across from the Montgomery Shopping Center, and will celebrate its grand opening this Saturday. There will be a drawing for an electronic bowling game the whole family can enjoy, a free gift for each child accompanied by an adult and personal appearances by a super hero and a giant bird. Plan to join the festivities — you'll be delighted with the extent of the store's stock, which includes all major brands, and your children will find it heaven.

Furnishings for Infants. Baby furnishings, necessities and toys are by Gerber, Baby World and other makers. Furnishings include carriers, car seats, bouncers, walkers, rocking chairs and high chairs.

Necessities are diapers, diaper pails, bathtubs, training potties and small items such as nursing bottles, warmers, holders and sterilizers, training cups, bibs and food warmers. Teething, rattles and soft washable toys include the Fisher-Price products, their tub and pool toys and crib and playpen toys that stimulate and entertain baby.

Toys for Pre-School Children. A complete selection of toys for the pre-school child by Ideal, Mattel, Gabriel, Romper Room, Playskool, Creative Playthings, Amlold and Fisher-Price foster learning skills and are fun. Amlold's Block Clock teaches ages 3 to 6 to tell time, Fisher-Price's Play Family Sets encourage imaginative play for ages 2-8 and the Magnetic Arithmetic Board and Read'n'Rite Board by Child Guidance are learning games for ages up to 11.

Games and Puzzles. Board games for age 4 through adults include Milton Bradley's "Candy Land," Parker Brothers' "Battlestar Galactica," Gabriel's "British Square," Selchow and Righter's "Scrabble" brand cross word games and many others. Computerized games the whole family can play are Milton Bradley's "Simon" and Mattel's "Football." Electronic games that promote learning are Coleco's "Quiz Whiz," a computer answer game, and Texas Instruments' "Spelling Bee." Puzzles for all ages are Milton Bradley's easy 24 piece puzzles of Sesame Street characters to 2500 piece scenes for adults, "Superman" puzzles by American Publishing Company, Parker Brothers' "Battlestar Galactica" puzzles and Kenner's "Star War" puzzles. Children can enact their own dramas with Kenner's "Star War" figures or Milton Bradley's "Battlestar Galactica" figures. Mego's coveted super hero figures are "Superman," "Hulk," "Spider Man" and "Robin."

Toys for Boys. Fisher-Price's boom crane and bulldozer, Tonka's tank truck and loader and Buddy L's sanitation truck and dump truck are among the big road vehicles with a special appeal for boys. TCR racing car sets, Speed Burners Drag Strip and Cox's gasoline powered planes and cars have the excitement of their real counterparts.

Toys for Girls. An array of dolls are lovable babies and friends from Horsman, Fisher-Price, Mattel and Madame Alexander, the Holly Hobbie Dolls and Knickerbocker's Raggedy Anne, or sophisticated young women — Barbie, Ginny and Cindy dolls with their clothes, furniture and accessories. Stuffed animals by Knickerbocker and Rushton are cuddly, non-demanding pets. Playdishes, tea sets and Mirro kitchenware help little girls mimic mama.

Crafts and Kits. Kits for many fascinating crafts include string sculpture, jewelry, woodworking, coloring and painting, paper flowers, weaving and modeling clay. Kits for making cars, trucks, planes and boats from Revell, Monogram and ERTL range from easy to elaborate. Lego construction kits contain interlocking pieces for making people, vehicles, and buildings, such as the magnificent castle at the store; erector sets can also be used to build wondrous things.

Party Accessories. Complete sets of cups, napkins and plates are offered in a choice of popular themes — "Sesame Street," "Star Wars," "Spider Man," "Mickey Mouse," the "Flintstones" and others. "Sesame Street" and "Star Wars" sets also include greeting cards and wrapping paper. Crepe paper streamers, gift wrappings, centerpieces, party hats, horns, balloons, blow-outs, poppers, prizes and place favors are also on display.

Special ordering, free gift wrapping and free layaway is offered at C & M Toy Store. Hours are 10-6 Monday through Thursday, 10-9 Friday, 10-6 Saturday. Viola Wolff is assistant manager.

Yawn. Our conversation pits put you to sleep.

Armless side chair $145
Corner piece $170
Armless loveseat $230
Loveseat with arms $340

If the idea of yet another conversation pit makes you slightly drowsy, wait till you look at these. Because they have all the exciting style you want (and probably haven't found), but they do put you to sleep. Literally. Because the pieces open with just a twist of the wrist into comfortable single or double beds. Both groups are constructed of durable polyurethane foam and can be arranged and rearranged to match your moods, your needs, your space.

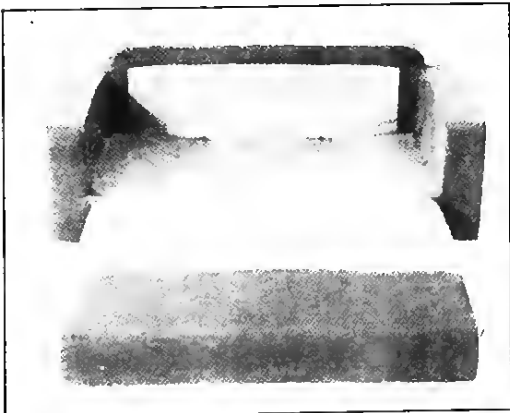

The group on top is channel-quilted and covered in your choice of mushroom or forest green 100% cotton duck. All the pieces open into beds and, half open, they make unusual, and unusually, comfortable chaises lounges.

The group on bottom features both an armed and an armless loveseat plus a chair and a corner piece; and everything but the corner opens into a bed. All pieces are covered in rust fine-ribbed 100% cotton. You may also order them covered in a variety of special fabrics at higher prices. (There's a

6 to 8 week delivery time on special fabrics.)

Our super conversation pits with beds built right in. They're the stuff dreams are made of.

Princeton Regional School HIGHLIGHTS

(The following information was researched and written by members of the Regional Schools PTO Council, and the opinions expressed are not those of TOWN TOPICS.)

IT TAKES A WIDE VARIETY of people, ideas, curriculum, and activities to make a school hum, and John Witherspoon is no exception. The assortment of events at JW during the past few weeks speaks for itself.

The Red Cross gained a helping hand through the efforts of House 5. Three hundred individual baskets for patients' trays or tables were constructed, filled with grass, and delivered in time to brighten the holidays. Earlier in the school year House 5 representatives served at the Thanksgiving dinner for senior citizens; helping others has been a real part of their lives.

The lacrosse team with coach Ward Campbell issued an invitation to the Loch Raven, Maryland Middle School players to join them for a match here in Princeton. Twenty players arrived by bus and were hosted by area families overnight. Princeton University playing fields became the arena; the entire JW team played in a game marked with few fouls. Control was the key to a JW 5-2 win; a return engagement with the Baltimore area team has been proposed.

Another contest was one arranged by Upper C-Wing students of Mr. Jim Messersmith. A challenge was issued to other houses in the school for a great helicopter building and flying competition. Four categories were listed: the slowest falling, the fastest spinning, the slowest spinning, and the fastest starting-to-spin models. The formal challenge included a design diagram of acceptable models and promised adequate supplies of paper, tape, fasteners, staples, and scissors. Twenty minutes were allowed for constructing and perfecting entries in each contest.

One house responded elegantly on antiqued parchment:

Mrs. Orosz's 7th grade (group D) accepts your challenge for the helicopter contest and would like to set a date.

No prizes were given; the honor of having an impressively fast- or slow- model was sufficient. An all-school disco, a talent show, a drama group assembly, and the Mathletes participation in the area "Olympics of the Mind" have been part of the total program at JW Middle School where enjoyment and learning go hand-in-hand.

A MODEL FOR PROPOSED PLAYGROUND equipment at Community Park is now on display at the school for everyone's comments and approval. The wooden structure will accommodate many children while developing skills in climbing, swinging, crawling, jumping, and discovering (as children always do) new ways to put such equipment to use.

MANAGER OF FACILITIES Bill Karch is a man on the run with many projects to oversee. Normally his concerns would be limited to school buildings and grounds, but this year he has a primary concern in the PHS renovation and another change in the Valley Road School. There, school offices and work areas are being transferred to the newer wing. Second floor rooms, originally built to hold dozens of lively students, were redesigned to yield reception areas, offices, workrooms, and storage. Framing has been completed for the new walls, ceilings and lighting as the transformation begins. Work is being done by the system's maintenance staff, although needed repairs around the district still have priority. At first only administrators and secretaries will shift operations, but as Township government services move out of currently occupied rooms into the Witherspoon Street section, the print shop and conference rooms will settle into new quarters. Media department offices, darkroom, and work areas will eventually migrate to PHS to unite the various phases of Audio-Visual operations.

In Praise of Petrillo.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am shocked and appalled by Dr. Houston's recent reorganization of his staff, most critically of the High School situation, where I have a child who is a sophomore and one who will be a freshman in the Fall.

In my opinion, George Petrillo during his "short tenure" as principal has restored Princeton High School as a citadel of learning, where it had formerly been a permissive day care center for teenagers passing through.

I feel it is beholden on Dr. Houston and the Princeton Regional School Board to give us, the parents and taxpayers a complete and thorough explanation of their actions.

The memory of Dr. McPherson and his cohorts is much too fresh in the minds of us townspeople to allow that dark era of the Princeton Regional School District to possibly be visited upon us again.

Questions for School Board.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

What is going on here? Three weeks ago, five percent of our town voted on a school budget. At the time we were voting "yes" for Current Expenses, we were unaware of the plan to add more administrators, much less tenure two principals and shift others.

In last week's TOWN TOPICS, Dr. Houston is quoted as saying, "We can't add on to the administration."

Prof. Jansen, 57, a member of the Class of 1944 at Princeton, received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard and taught for nine years at the University of Washington before returning to Princeton as a professor of history in 1959. School and a freshman majoring in theatre at the University of Colorado. He will play George Noon, one of the companions of Alferd Packer on an infamous ill-fated expedition into the wilds of Colorado in 1873.

In flashback sequences, friends and relatives recall the Packer incident in which a group of 21 gold-hungry prospectors, Packer included, left Provo, Utah, to search for minerals in Southwestern Colorado. Most of the group decided to spend the winter with an Indian chief instead of continuing through bad weather, but Packer and a party of five men, including George Noon, chose to go on.

In the spring of 1874 Alferd Packer came out of the mountains, alone. When the other men's bodies were discovered, all signs pointed to cannibalism.

Mr. Dratfield learned of the part through the theatre department at the University of Colorado. He had a screen test and landed the part, out of a reported 800 others who auditioned for the role. The movie is scheduled for release in October or November.

Miss Collier is a graduate of Miss Hall's School in Pittsfield, Mass., and Miss Goldstein was graduated from Princeton High School.

Dr. Peter Mark of 61 Wheatshaf Lane, professor of electrical engineering and computer science at Princeton University, has received a Senior U. S. Scientist Award from the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation of the Federal Republic of Germany.

The award, which carries a stipend of approximately $16,000, was made to Dr. Mark in recognition of his accomplishments in research and teaching and will enable him to study at the Max Planck Institute in Berlin for six months beginning in July.

Dr. Mark's research has focused on the free surface properties of electronically active materials, the correlation of surface electronic and surface atomic structure, and the chemical activity of surfaces. He is the author or co-author of some 90 technical articles and is currently editor of the Journal of Vacuum Science and Technology.

Werner Kern of Terrytown Terrace, Belle Mead, a scientist at RCA Laboratories, is co-editor of a recently issued book, "Thin Film Processes."

Published by Academic Press in New York, the book is concerned with deposition methods and etching of materials, especially those used to make microelectronic devices in the semiconductor industry. ZONERS TO MEET

On Hillier, Breewood, Bank. Three long-standing applications are once again on the Township Zoning Board agenda. The meeting is scheduled for this Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Township Hall.

J. Robert Hillier's architecture firm was asked by the board last month to come back with comments from the Medical Center of Princeton about possible use of the hospital's new parking garage for the Witherspoon Street office building. Mr. Hillier plans to remodel next to the Valley Road building. The architect had been negotiating with the school board for possible rental of spaces in the Valley Road parking lot.

Brenwood Building Associates will also be back. The firm wants to build a six-unit, one-story apartment cluster on land at the corner of State Road and Ewing, and needs permission for such a multiple use. In addition, Brenwood wants permission for a photographer's studio in a single-family dwelling on the same lot. The firm made part of its presentation in March, but has at least one more witness to call.

The New Jersey National Bank, which has been on agendas but never heard, needs permission to install a branch bank in the Office Research zone at Bunn Drive and North Harrison.

MATHTECH AFFILIATED
With Digital Equipment. Mathtech, Inc., Princeton Station Office Park, Princeton Junction, has become affiliated with Digital Equipment Corporation of Maynard, Mass., as a commercial original equipment manufacturer.

Under terms of the agreement, Mathtech is licensed to sell the entire line of DEC Datasystems with its own applications software packages. An area of Mathtech's consulting practice involves developing and marketing specialized packages and services to credit grantors, such as

$2500 Machine Missing

A $2,500 video tape machine is missing from a commercial building on Alexander Street but Township police aren't sure if it has been stolen. But Lt. Jack Petrone acknowledged that neither the police nor the owner know where it is.

Police report that the machine was legally removed by an employee and then loaned to another party. The employee, however, no longer works for the firm.

"It's been passed around," commented Lt. Petrone, "including use by educational institutions." In trying to trace it, Lt. Petrone said police have discovered "it has been loaned here and there but we don't know where it is."

The new Digital affiliate is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Mathematica, Inc., a research and consulting firm. Dr. Norman Agin is president and chief executive officer of Mathtech, Inc.

PERSONNEL NOTES

Princeton Bank and Trust Company has announced the promotion of Mrs. Pauline T. DiGiovacchino of Pennington, from assistant vice-president to vice-president. Mrs. DiGiovacchino is in charge of the bank's Mortgage Department.

Mrs. DiGiovacchino started her banking career in 1949 with the First National Bank of Pennington, and joined Princeton Bank as a teller in 1961. She served in various capacities in operations, profit planning control, and purchasing, before assuming her present duties in the Mortgage Department in 1976.

Firmenich Incorporated has appointed C. Richard Myers of Blue Spruce Drive, Pennington, to commercial development manager, interviewers gave PHS) into a place where education could again happen. School and team spirit is back and growing.

The Mid-Atlantic Schools Evaluation gave PHS and Mr. Petrillo an excellent rating. SAT scores are up -- PHS is one out of only 100 schools in the U.S. where this happened. The Music Department, the Math and Science Departments, have earned honors and recognition. Students who fled to private schools are back at PHS.

Part of the five years of planning for the renovation of PHS, Mr. Petrillo is now coping with the inconveniences and hassles as renovation and education take place side by side.

PHS hasn't been a job to him -- it has been an investment -- of himself.

Jockeying for position and power and perquisites is part of the game in business. Education is more fragile. Will it hold together under wheeling and dealing? It didn't before.

If being a person of integrity and honesty, working hard and doing an excellent job, holding to community values, caring and respecting the people he works with, and the young people he works for, isn't enough to earn support and loyalty for Mr. Petrillo -- what is?

Junk Mail Unpopular.

To the Editor of Town Topics: Please do something to stop the delivery of unwanted papers from food markets in the area -- in the mail as well as other delivery. This is an expensive nuisance to the public, and the garbage dumps are burdened at the expense of the taxpayers. I buy bags and cord and spend time to dispose of the trash printed matter.

Editor's Note: Ms. Yandell's recourse on unwanted third class mail is to notify the food markets and others sending her advertising material that she wishes to be removed from their lists, and to tell Princeton-Windsor News Service (799-9895) that she does not want delivery to her home of similar material.

A special invitation from Merrill Lynch to 18 very select Princeton area investors

Are you one of the handful of people who should speculate in commodity futures?

The opportunities for profit are enormous. So are the risks. Example: If you had put $1,800 into silver futures in January, 1979, you could have made (or lost) $8,500 per contract by February!

To qualify, you need substantial risk capital, and plenty of self-control.

We'll tell you more about it at a special Merrill Lynch Forum we've arranged for people who meet these qualifications.

The atmosphere is informal. A deceptively simple learning technique will help you soak up more on this complex subject than you ever thought you could in one sitting.

You'll personally participate in a frank

(and no doubt lively) discussion. We'll give you food for thought and facts for action. You'll learn:

- How you can make money on only 30 percent of your trades-- and still come out ahead.

- 3 trading techniques, and 12 guidelines that can help make you a better speculator.

You'll also get a Speculator's Information Kit to take home and study. Kit includes: Commodity Speculator's Manual, our latest situation reports with quick trading Fact Sheets, and more.

Before you begin trading, you'll need facts. So don't miss our next Forums. They're free, but please reserve your seats now.

CHURCH TO BENEFIT

From All Day Event. Auction, etc. this Saturday from 10 to 4 at the Unitarian Church will include a day-long auction, a silent auction, a midway spook house for kids, tables offering goods, treats and delectables — all reasonably priced — and an art gallery featuring works by area artists and crafts people.

Silent bids will be accepted for such items as a seven-day summer stay at a four-bedroom ski chalet in Vermont, a hot air balloon ride, a day of sailing on Spruce Run and Barnegat Bay, a ride in a glider plane, or an airplane ride which includes dinner at The Red Baron Inn in Connecticut. Also offered will be a French, Chinese or Greek dinner in a private home, computer programming lessons, photographic portraits, dog sitting and house sitting, goat's cheese and goat manure and free kittens.

A gourmet table will feature pickles, preserves, casseroles, home-made breads, plus desserts and pies, available whole or by the slice. For plant lovers: clay pots by the score, plus plants of all kinds; hanging baskets, wildflowers, seedlings, perennials and more. Book and record lovers will find an ample selection of both.

On the midway, children can be transformed into clowns, animal friends, spooks .. or whatever .. with the help of a little face paint. They can fish for treasures with a magnet, and win such prizes as a spider ring or a skeleton. Helium balloons will also be available.

A refreshment stand will feature soft beverages, coffee and hot dogs. The church is on Cherry Hill Road and Route 206.

TO SPEAK ON DRAFT

At Quaker Meeting. Tom Conrad of the Peace Committee of the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends will lead a discussion on "Conscription Alert — Return of the Draft" on Sunday at 12:15 at Princeton Monthly Meeting First Day School, Quaker Bridge Road. All are invited to attend.

An informal luncheon will precede the discussion. Those who are attending may bring a brown bag lunch. Beverage and dessert will be provided.

According to Arnold Smolens of the Princeton Monthly Meeting, those who are concerned that revival of the draft could pave the way for another Vietnam-type war in the Far East, Middle East or Africa and escalate an arms race in conventional military forces with the East

Bloc, should find the discussion of interest.

APARTHEID IS TOPIC

Of Campus Talks. The University Chapel and the United Campus Ministries at Princeton University will hold a series of three informal seminars on "The Church and Apartheid" in the coming week. All talks will be in Murray-Dodge Hall.

The Rev. Donald Morton of New York City, a South African Methodist minister, will speak Sunday at 8 on "The Role of Whites and Christians in the South African Liberation Struggle: Towards a Theology of Liberation."

Prof. Preston William of Harvard Divinity School, recently returned from two weeks inspecting GM plants in South Africa, will speak on "Christian Approaches to the Issue of Corporate Investment in South Africa" on Monday at 8.

The final speaker will be the Rev. James McCord, president of Princeton Theological Seminary, who has recently returned from a meeting of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches held in South Africa to discuss the church and social responsibility. He will speak Thursday, May 3, at 4 on "The Role of African and American Churches in the Fight against Apartheid."

All talks are free and open to the public.

TWO PERFORMANCES SET

By Pianist, Monologist. The Rev. Maxine Foster will be the guest performer Friday, May 4, at noon in All Saints' Church for Church Women United's May Fellowship Day. She will present a dramatic reading of Sojourner Truth's "Ain't I a Woman?" speech to benefit the Church Women United's camp fund.

Ms. Foster is a senior at Princeton Seminary and an active member of the Association of Black Seminarians. She is also assistant director and pianist for the Gospel Ensemble. She plays the organ, saxophone, flute and guitar and has been awarded several music scholarships and has made several special appearances in concert.

She also performs monologues. During Black History Week, she received recognition for her portrayal of Sojourner Truth, a noted black female abolitionist of the late Civil War period. The "Ain't I a Woman?" speech was first presented at a women's conference in Akron, Ohio, in 1893.

Ms. Foster will also play two piano solos by 19th and 20th century black composers, Nathaniel Dett's Bacarolle from the suite "In the Bottoms," and Florence Price's "Nimble Feet" from the suite "Dances in the Canebreaks."

Ms. Foster will also be performing in concert at Mount Pisgah A.M.E. church on Friday, May 6, at 4. That concert is sponsored by the Rachel Coover Missionary Society of the church. Tickets are $3 and are available from Mrs. Charlotte Gipson, 924-1507, or from the church, 924-9017.

All are invited for a time of song, praise and fellowship. Ms. Foster's program will include works by Monteverdi, Handel, Caldara, as well as more contemporary gospel music, including a work of her own composition.

LECTURE PLANNED

By Christian Scientists. Gordon R. Clarke of Milwaukee, a member of the Board of Lectureship of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, will give a free talk Monday at 8 in the John Witherspoon School auditorium.

Mr. Clarke's talk is entitled "The Language of Soul." He suggests that mankind can feel god's protection and love more and more as people strive to bring their lives into line with spiritual values — the healing influence of what Mr. Clarke terms "the language of Soul."

As a widely-traveled lecturer, Mr. Clarke reports a common condition, widespread human longing for what he terms "a refreshed sense of life." The challenge facing humanity, he feels, is the "need first to recognize the possibility of spiritual inspiration and then to know how to utilize it."

Mrs. Adele Lambert, a member of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Princeton, will introduce Mr. Clarke.

BULLETIN NOTES

The Women's Guild and the Men's Brotherhood of the Six Mile Run Reformed Church, Route 27, Franklin Park, will hold a Fish Fry on Wednesday, May 2. Dinner will be served from 5 to 7 and will include batter fried fish, French fries, cole slaw, French bread, homemade pie and coffee, tea, or milk.

Mrs. Mackie Csontos of North Brunswick is chairman of the Fish Fry, with Walter Adams, Wesley Welch, and William Lowande of Franklin Park, in charge of the dining room. Mrs. Vera Wilson of South Brunswick is in charge of the kitchen and Mrs. Edna Thompson of Kendall Park in charge of the table decorations.

Tickets are available to the public and may be purchased at the door.

The Hopewell Presbyterian Church, corner of Broad and Louellen Streets, is holding its annual Spring Rummage Sale on Thursday from 9:30 to 7 and Friday from 9:30 to 1.

There will be a nearly-new section of better clothing and many other good items as well. On Friday, there will be a $1. grab bag. Again this year a portion of the proceeds will be used for the John R. Ginter Memorial Scholarship Fund.

The Women's Guild of the Harlingen Reformed Church will hold a spring cafeteria supper Saturday from 4:30 to 7:30 in the church on Route 206, Belle Mead. The menu will include roast beef, ham, chicken salad, creamed chicken, scalloped potatoes, potato salad, coleslaw, gelatin salads, vegetable casseroles, coffee, milk, rolls, cake and pie.

The Cranbury Methodist Church will hold its eighth annual Antique Show Saturday from 10 to 4. There will be 25 antique dealers from New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, along with half a dozen arts and crafts exhibits. Kathryn Archambeau is in charge, and Carlyn Ernest is secretary-treasurer. The proceeds will be used for charity needs by the United Methodist Women.

Tinsel painting, making items from bread dough and carving apple head dolls will be among the crafts demonstrated. There will be a snack bar of hot and cold sandwiches and homemade desserts. Knitted and crocheted sweaters, afghans, stuffed animals and dolls will also be available.

Trinity Counseling Service will hold an Open House Sunday from 3 to 5 at its newly refurbished quarters at 22 Stockton Street. The public is invited.

Chicken and barbecue ribs will be featured at a dinner offered by the Morning Star Church of God in Christ, 43½ Birch Avenue, on Saturday from 11 to 6. The donation is $3.50. Elder Cirley Guidrey is pastor.

The Nurses Unit of the First Baptist Church, John Street and Paul Robeson Place, will hold a "Mother-Daughter Extravaganza" featuring Lydia Jackson, "Miss Black America," on Saturday, April 28, at 4 at the church. Oneta Campbell is chairman.

The donation is $8 for adults and $4 for children.

Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick Talks to Her Constituents About Inflation, Energy, Defense, Social Security and More

"You have a right to call me to account," said Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick, smiling at the audience of constituents who postponed Saturday morning lawn chores to fill the Township Hall meeting room and ask her questions.

It was the second time the Republican Congresswoman, now in her second term, has come to Princeton to meet with residents of Princeton, West Windsor and Rocky Hill. She told Saturday's audience that she deliberately holds the sessions in non-election years.

Punctuating her replies with "intolerable!" "indefensible!" "outrageous!" the Congresswoman, who is in her late 60's, spoke with a continuous drive of energy remarkable at any age.

Questions on inflation, energy, defense and ethics predominated during the two-hour meeting. Mrs. Fenwick displayed finger-tip knowledge of statistics on any subject, but it seemed to many in the audience that although she replied at length to many questions, she did not always answer the question.

Bordering on Debate. Except for one constituent who persisted almost to the point of debate in questioning Mrs. Fenwick's views on defense, and another who wanted answers about Amtrak, there was little follow-through on the part of those who asked questions.

One asked "why no wage and price controls?"; a retired woman protested the "unrealistic" ceiling on earnings under Social Security; another asked Mrs. Fenwick's views on a Constitutional balanced budget amendment.

Controls are more damaging in the long run than inflation, the Congresswoman declared. She repeated a proposal she has made on other occasions, that all foods - and not just fresh produce, as now - be removed from Interstate Commerce Commission regulations.

Such a release from controls would mean lower prices, she said. When she proposed decontrolling foods in this manner, someone said, "... and add 'garbage' so other states can't dump in New Jersey!"

"That is an outrage!" Mrs. Fenwick exclaimed. "I can't see why New Jersey can't stop it."

And, to a murmur of assent from the audience, she pointed out that countries "all over the world" burn garbage to make electricity "and I can't see why we can't do it, too."

Income Limit Unfair. The

FENWICK AND FRIEND: Princeton resident Mary Moore discusses Social Security with Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick. The Representative told a Saturday audience that she favors using Social Security as a pension only, with its medical aspects assigned elsewhere. She has proposed investigating contributions of one-third each from Federal, employee, employer sources.

income limit for Social Security recipients is "absolutely wrong, totally indefensible," she stated. "It is unfair, when unearned income of any amount is possible," and added that, in her view, the higher income tax imposed on married people is equally unfair.

"You're better off if you live in sin - as we used to say," and the audience joined her in laughter.

Amendment? Maybe. She is persuaded that "maybe" the United States should have a Constitutional amendment for a balanced budget, with waivers for emergencies, "like a deep recession or severe unemployment."

After conversations with Federal Reserve officials, she said, she is convinced of the part low productivity has in inflation. A lower capital-gains tax, she said, would allow investment in productive machinery. As it is now, she said, companies are forced to buy abroad for advanced equipment they need.

Princeton's plasma physics lab, she reported, had been compelled to buy sophisticated equipment abroad because domestic material was simply not up to date. RCA, she said, was tooled for the vacuum tube and had no tax incentive to scrap, and convert to solid state production.

"Be wary," she warned the audience, "of politicians who boast of how much money they've brought into your district. Think what it means, in terms of inflation."

She told the audience she had voted "no" on a bill which would have provided $6 million to repair winter-damaged New Jersey potholes - "there was even more for Florida! Money must be targeted for need."

About Oil. To a questioner who referred to "the distressing influence of the oil companies," she replied that she hoped increased prices would mean more productivity, "with half the windfall profits to go toward research on other forms of energy."

"How can we determine the worth of so many BTU's?" she asked, and then explained in some detail that, since there are no more domestic gushers, oil must now be sought and extracted by techniques that are costly. Gas rationing? It would be hard to make it work.

At one point she observed, "We're in hostage to the oil countries, no doubt about it." But she repeatedly emphasized her belief in conservation, chiding President Jimmy Carter for "taking four jet planes to go politicking in Oklahoma! He should have gone on national television and announced that he was cancelling the trip to set an example in energy conservation."

Yes, she had used gasoline to get to Princeton, she conceded, but added, "It's part of my district," and after hearing the complaint of Peggy McNeill, chairman of the Federally-required "208" water quality management planning for Mercer County that she is waiting for promised 75 percent federal funding, Mrs. Fenwick took notes - the only time she did so - and said, "I'll look into that Monday. Unfortunately, it does sometimes depend on 'who you know.'"

Subsidies Expensive. She defended the decision to wipe out unprofitable rail lines because subsidies "are an enormous expense for the taxpayer." The General Accounting Office can show

Nagel Jackson, New Man at McCarter, Discusses His Plans for New Season

The new McCarter season will bring to Princeton Shakespeare, Brecht, Stoppard, Coward, Moliere — plus Nagel Jackson and the beginnings of a resident McCarter acting company. Actually, the new Artistic Director hasn't yet chosen the six plays McCarter will offer from the announced list of nine. The advertised theme, "Take a New Look at Great Theatre," was thought up by somebody else. "I don't do any plays that aren't great!" he said crisply, in a recent interview.

Brisk, energetic, driving, a man of all parts in the theatre, Mr. Jackson is working in both Princeton and New York these days. He's looking toward the May 13 New York opening of the revision he did with Clark Gesner of "The Utter Glory of Morrissey Hall." Celeste Holm will star. He directed the Gesner musical for McCarter two seasons ago. After that premiere, he took a two-year sabbatical, re-did "Morrissey" and is now Gesner's co-author. He also wrote one play, which has been given in San Francisco and "did fairly well," and another which "has commercial possibilities."

House Hunting. After filling a summer commitment to direct "Macbeth" in San Diego, he'll be at McCarter in mid-July to start his new job. Presumably by that time, he'll have a place to live for his wife, Sandra, and their daughters, 11 and 12. His wife, he explains with a smile, is a Smith graduate "who did that dreadful thing — became an actress — and then something almost as bad, married an actor who became a director." The 1979-80 season will have six plays chosen from this list: "Love's Labour's Lost" — Shakespeare "Jumpers" — Tom Stoppard "The Miser" — Moliere "Blithe Spirit" — Noel Coward "Journey of the Fifth Horse" — Ronald Ribman "Custer" — Robert Ingham "All the Way Home" — Tad Mosel "The Visions of Simone Machard" — Brecht ... and "a new play."

In Milwaukee, when he was artistic director of the Milwaukee Repertory Theatre for six years, Mr. Jackson directed "Custer" and found to his pleasure that New York Times critics Richard Eder "flipped over it," so it might well find its way to McCarter. The Ribman is an adaptation of a Turgenev short story, "terribly moving and funny" with the interesting theatre possibility of a grand ballroom scene within the walls of a hovel.

Mosel's play, based on James Agee's "A Death in the Family," "is a real, American play in the best sense," Mr. Jackson says.

His contract with McCarter, at his request, calls for him to direct at least three plays a season. He will probably not act, although he has done so. "I don't trust a director who hasn't been an actor."

A Three-year Contract. And there's that resident company. He has a three-year contract with McCarter and has been quoted as saying it takes two or three years to build a good resident company. Can he do it in that time?

"I know a lot of good repertory actors, and I've already had calls from interested people," he says.

"I would like audiences to come to McCarter from miles around, to see the company. Whether it can happen in three years, is up to the audiences. There is a chemistry that can be set up between audience and company — it's like a ball-team, where people have favorites. The only time I've gotten heat from audiences is when actors left! I guess audiences thought I'd fired them. I've cast an actor as leading man in one play and a butler the next. Actors like that. To carry the lead every time is an enormous burden." A resident company can break away into new and different projects, he explains. In other communities where he has worked, actors have performed in churches, playgrounds, prisons. "You can't expect the audience to come to your house all the time — you must go to theirs. But it's too early to be definite..." The contract gives Mr. Jackson approval of the Managing Director, still to be chosen. Together, the two will hammer out what duties will fall to which.

A Built-to Computer. "I have a talent for administration -- and nothing was more of a surprise to me than to find that out! I plan the season from an artistic point of view, but a little computer is up there in my head, figuring out the budget, although I'm not an accountant. I've been involved with union negotiations, budgets, and I'm very aware of that side."
"I must keep most of my attention on the artistic side and not get bogged down in the other. But the budget items can't be divorced from the artistic. It's like a marriage -- the managing director must be exactly the right person. That's the way I've always worked."
He's eager for his work at McCarter to begin.

A MILLION DOLLARS?
Insanity? Should, is the question, Mrs. Savage be packed away in an insane asylum? It is asked, but whether answered audiences must fine out for themselves, in "The Curious Savage" to be given by students at Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. at the school.
The play involves, besides the salting away of Mrs. Savage, a search for $10 million. Would you dig under the petunias in the White House garden in your search? Attack a stuffed porpoise in a museum? Crawl into a coal-blackened chimney?
Susan Tapper, the director, has a cast consisting of Cynthia McVay, Sheila McCabe, Agnes Boide, Colleen Gallo, Michele Gillespie, Bill Mehle, Chris Price, Jeffrey Hudgins, Meghan Thanner and Evan Press.
Jenny Spicer is stage manager. Kathy Russo is in charge of set construction, and Julie Campo, Ellen Spicer and Jenny Spicer are directing props, costumes, lights and sound. Susan Short is ticket chairman.
DEADLINE NEARS
For Sameric. "I strongly, strongly doubt that the Garden will go dark," says Michael Feldman, assistant to Carl Schafer, Princeton University's financial vice-president and treasurer.
The 30-day grace period allowed the Sameric theatre chain under its lease with Palmer Square, Inc., will expire Monday. At that time, the University -- PSI's majority stock-holder -- must decide whether to go to court to hold Sameric to the lease. The chain has paid some of Brian Jones as Troilus and Millie Massey as the beautiful Cressida whose uncle Pandarus, portrayed by Mark Hofflund, attempts to unite the two lovers.

As the action progresses, Cressida becomes a spoil of war. She is traded to the Greeks and falls in love with Diomedes, who will be played by Jim Reynolds.

Intime sees "Troilus" as reversing the 1960's cry, "Make love not war," since the Trojan War was fought for love.

... BY ISAAC SINGER

"Yentl." The Princeton University Jewish Theatre Project, with Wilson College Theatre, will present Isaac Singer's play "Yentl" this Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, and again Thursday and Saturday, May 3 and 5.

Performances will be in Wilson College Theatre (Wilcox Hall) on the University campus. Curtain-time is 8:30 p.m. for all performances, except May 5, which will be at 9 p.m. followed by a reception. Admission to all performances is free.

In "Yentl," adapted by Singer from his own short story, "Yentl, the Yeshiva Boy," a young woman is obsessed with the desire to question and to learn, but is confronted with strict Jewish laws and customs on the role of women.

She disguises herself as a boy and joins a Yeshiva to study with others her age. She is teased and harassed because of her lack of physical manliness, and in a desperate attempt to stay in the Yeshiva, she marries the beautiful Hadass. Villagers become suspicious of the childless marriage, and in the end,

HE? SHE? Yentl (center) is the central character in a story by Isaac Singer, dramatized by him and ready for production by the Princeton Jewish Theatre Project. Laura Gold plays the part of the young girl whose yearning for knowledge leads her to disguise herself as a boy. In this scene she converses with her study partner (played by Morris Gold) and the innocent girl she "marries," played by Sunni Farrington.

Yentl must decide between keeping her life as scholar, or revealing the truth.

Yentl will be played by Laura Gold, a Princeton freshman, and Morris Gold, a University senior, will be Avigdor, her study partner. Sunni Farrington will portray Hadass. The director is Joeline Bergonzi.

10 YEARS OF WOMEN

For Triangle. It's not only Triangle Club's 90th annual musical, it's the tenth year of - gasp! - women in the cast. "Academia Nuts!" has been booked into McCarter for May 3-6, and tickets are available at the box office now.

Choreography by Haila Strauss, danced by several of Triangle's dancing cast, will include a number called "Urban Reel," a ballet of New York City lifestyles.

Two women dancers, Pam Christian and Laura Ellsworth, are featured. According to Triangle's press department, Ms. Christian is a native Texan with little acting experience before Triangle. Ms. Ellsworth, on the other hand, comes from New Jersey, had been on stage before coming to Princeton University and is a dancing teacher in her spare time.

LONG WEEK-END ...

In "Hay Fever," Princeton Community Players will dim the lights until another season with Noel Coward's comedy of manners and mannerisms, "Hay Fever." Opening night at the 171 Broadmead Theatre is Friday, May 4 at 8:30 p.m. "Hay Fever" will play also on May 5 and 6, 11-13 and 18-19.

The Bliss family have an unexpected kind of week-end at their country house - it's 1925. Judith, an aging former actress, has invited a boxer for the week-end. Husband David has in tow a half-witted flapper. Daughter Sorel brings along a middle-aged diplomat. Son Simon brings another middle-aged actress.

Since there is room for only one guest and not four, events that follow are predictable only in their unpredictability.

This is the play, incidentally, with that famous line, uttered by a guest at breakfast, "This haddock's disgusting!"

Actors are Charmaine Gates, Elizabeth Tallon, Tom Hunt, Michael Walker, Anne Bredon, Robert P. Culleton, Stella M. Evans, Roger Lipman and Kim Williamson.

"DUELLISTS"

Film, at Kresge. "The Duellists," a film from England based on a story by Joseph Conrad, will carry along the Movies-from-McCarter series with four showings at Kresge auditorium next Wednesday and Thursday, May 2 and 3. Screenings have been scheduled for 7:30 and 9:15 p.m. each evening.

"The Duellists" has been staged almost as a series of representations from 18th and early 19th-century painting, using historic battle scenes, landscapes and still lifes.

University Opera Theatre's Production of 'Figaro' Ranges From 'Not Bad' to 'Sensational' in Alexander Hall Setting

Mozart's masterful farce, "The Marriage of Figaro," was performed three times last weekend in Alexander Hall, in the Princeton University Opera Theatre's most ambitious production to date. The University Orchestra, under the direction of Michael Pratt, was augmented by singers from three different areas: the University, Westminster Choir College and the New York area. The director was Arthur Karp, also from New York. Of the previous eight productions, last year's "Magic Flute" was the first to venture from the claustrophobic confines of the Theater Intime onto the stage at Alexander Hall. Alexander's own decor was well suited to the ceremonial atmosphere of the "Magic Flute"; several rows of seats merely had to be extracted (to accommodate the orchestra) and a battery of auxiliary lighting temporarily installed. That was nothing compared to the transformation the Hall underwent for the "Marriage of Figaro," which requires interior sets and a dimly lit exterior. The price for Alexander's capacity loss of Intime's technical setup. Symbolic of the Hall's inherent inadequacy for theatrical productions is the lack of so basic a device as a front curtain; backdrops had to be rigged, and wings also; the lighting crew was sandwiched in the balcony between the organ console and pipes, and the primitive basement facilities sufficed for make-up and dressing, warming-up and winding-down. Still, there was no sense of compromise in the result; the evolution from auditorium to theater, though hard won, was complete. And the performance? It ranged from not bad to sensational. English, Not Italian. It was sung in English, for which there is much to be said. While opera is always at its best in its original language (Italian in this case), it is probably better to understand the words in translation than to hear so many original nonsense syllables go by. At the same time, it may be too idealistic to expect all of the words to penetrate intelligibly, even in English, in which case one wonders if it were not better to stick to Italian. For the most part, enough came through, if one listened attentively, to follow the intricate plottings in at least a general way. A less superficial synopsis than the program-booklet provided would have reduced the need to grasp every word for fullest comprehension of the story.

precise, though not as outstanding as Susanna at her best ("Oh come, my heart's delight" or "Deh vieni, non tardar" in Act IV, for me the high point of the evening) nor as controlled in the extremes of range as the Count.

The Countess, sung by Ellen Stettner, had a fuller, rounder voice that made her a good counterpart to the Count but gave her two major solos too heavy a flavor. She could be loud enough but not so easily soft enough. In the ensembles and recitatives she was secure and precise and sang with a natural, expressive sound. Cherubino, played by Stephanie Friede, had a warm, compelling tone, fuller than Susanna's but more defined than the Countess'. Her only problem was a tendency to fall behind a little in the two breathless arias in which Cherubino vents his confused emotions.

A Delicious Scene. The acting was also convincing, with several entertaining visual jokes. The scene in Susanna's room where Cherubino hides from the Count and the Count from Don Basilio, only to be exposed in reverse order (witnessed with diabolical glee by Harold Powers as Basilio) was delicious.

The "exit aria" between Marcellina (Cynthia Lake) and Susanna was an enjoyable bit of theatrics that each performed for the other's benefit and her own amusement. Only the frenetic antics in the finale, with pandemonium rampant -- when the Count intercepts Cherubino's kiss intended for Matters could have been worse had not the orchestra been so sensitive to balance requirements. Only occasionally did the orchestra cover a singer, although to avoid doing so it had to discreetly but perceptibly suppress the accents and other nuances that enliven the sound. All in all the orchestra was smooth and confident, notwithstanding some tuning problems in the winds every so often.

Barry Ellison as Count Almaviva was the strongest singer both in terms of excellence and projection. He could be counted on to fill the hall with sound, and his was the most consistently high-caliber voice in the cast.

Alternate Leads. Nancy Bergman as Susanna (played on other nights by Karen Smith) had a delightfully pure tone, quite a bit lighter than the Count's and not always able to cut through. Neither singer's vibrato ever obscured the pitch. That should not merit a remark but it does, since unfortunately such clarity cannot be routinely expected.

George Steinhoff's Figaro was nearly as good, matching Susanna's tone quality very nicely. His singing was pleasant, light, clear and the Countess, whom he thinks is Susanna, and Figaro absorbs the Count's retaliatory swipe, aimed at Cherubino (does this illustrate the need for a more detailed synopsis?) - only in such situations was the thread hard to follow from the stage action. The performers had all they could do to be in the right place and do the right thing at the right time without dropping any notes.

Review of 'Figaro'
One wonders where the Princeton University Opera Theater can go from here. Can Alexander Hall's limitations continue to be so marvelously overcome, or will they prove to be too much of a strain?
Given this year's and last year's successes, whatever happens next year will undoubtedly be worth attending, from the musical standpoint if no more. The question is whether the staging will be as lavish - it sure would be nice.
— Donald Greenfield

CONCERTS PLANNED
By Columbus Boy Choir. The second annual Princeton-area spring concerts of The Columbus Boychoir will feature a new staged work written by the choir director of Canterbury Cathedral in England. The concerts will take place at All Saints' Church on Terhune Road on Saturday, May 5, at 8 and Sunday, May 6 at 3.
Special events will follow each concert. A reception, with an opportunity to meet Donald Hanson, director of the Columbus Boychoir, and the boys, will follow Saturday's concert. Immediately after Sunday's concert will come the opening of an art exhibit "The Year of the Child" at the Boychoir's home on Lambert Drive.

Two Princeton boys taking part in the performance are Benjamin Hankinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hankinson of Harrison Street, and Scott Garvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Garvey of Alexander Street. Both are in their first year at The Boychoir School.
The new staged work, entitled "The Gift," is based on the poem "The Goblin Market" by Christina Rossetti. It is a fantasy in which two young boys encounter a troupe of goblins in the deep forest. One boy succumbs to the temptation of buying goblin fruit and is ultimately saved by the courage of his brother. The work, with music by Alan Wicks and Alan Rideout, both well-known for their work with music for boys' choir, has not previously been seen in this country.

Other works on the program will be traditional sacred music, as well as light classical music including works by Strauss, Brahms, and others.
The concerts are sponsored by The Boychoir School Associates, a volunteer group of people who wish to help support The Boychoir School. For information on the group, call The Boychoir School. Tickets for the concerts are priced at $5 for adults and $3 for children under 12 and can be reserved by calling the School at 924-5858.

PHS CONCERT SET
Of Contemporary Music. A noontime concert of contemporary music will be presented on Thursday at 12:25 in the Princeton High School auditorium by Clarence Chang, Mary Schmidt, and Portia Sonnenfeld.
The program will open with "Density 21.5" for solo flute by Edgar Varese. "Nach Bach" by George Rochberg will be played on the new Steinway, but the old piano will come in for some unusual plucking and chiseling in the "Voice of the Blue Whale" by George Crumb, in which the three musicians will wear masks and play under blue lights, as specified in the score.
The program is intended primarily for students at PHS but the public is also invited.

CONCERT PLANNED
At Art Museum. The Friends of the Art Museum will present a program of early 17th century Italian canzonas and toccatas and French Classic music of the 18th century Sunday at 2 at the Princeton Art Museum. The performers will be John Burkhalter, recorders; Ruth Leach, viola da gamba; and Linda Cox, harpsichord.

The concert is free and open to the public.

TO SING MOZART
At Alexander Hall Concert. Andrea Matthews, soprano, will sing a program of sacred and secular works by Mozart Friday at 8:30 in Alexander Hall. She will be accompanied by Prof. Walter Nollner, conductor of the Princeton University Chapel Choir and the Glee Club. The concert is open to the public without charge.

Three concert arias from the 1780's, two with texts by Lorenzo da Ponte, will be performed. "Non piu. Tutto ascoltai" was written by Mozart for a private performance of "Idomeneo" to replace the original beginning of Act II, while "Bella mia flamma" and "Vado, ma dove?" were written for the singers Josepha Duschek and Louise Villeneuve respectively.

The other secular works are four lieder, "Das Veilchen" (Goethe), "Abendempfindung," "An Chloe," and "Un moute di gioja," written as an additional song for Susanna in "The Marriage of Figaro." Two settings of "Laudate Dominum," from the two vespers settings, the well-known motet "Exultate, jubilate," and the "Et incarnatus est" from the "Mass in C minor" make up the sacred portion of the program.

TWO CHOIRS TO SING
In Alexander Hall. The annual combined concerts of the Princeton University Freshman Chorus and the Princeton High School Choir will be held Wednesday, May 2, at Alexander Hall on the University campus. The feature work will be Haydn's Mass in D minor, the "Lord Nelson Mass," with a full orchestra.

The University freshmen will perform two works by Brahms, "Motet Schaffer in Mir" and the "Schicksalslied," accompanied by John Rick, Class of '79, assistant director. The Princeton High School Choir will then perform the Mass for mixed voices by Igor Stravinsky with a double wind quintet.

William Trego directs both choirs and is assisted by Nancianne Parrella of the High School. The Haydn solos will be sung by Sharon Alexander, soprano; Frauke Haasemann, alto; Mark Blecke, tenor; and Miles Pratt, bass. Tickets are available from any choir member or at the door. The price is $1 for students and $2 for adults.

CONCERT SATURDAY
By Chamber Orchestra. The Ars Nova Chamber Orchestra, Paul Hofreiter, conductor, will present the final concert of its eighth season on Saturday at 8:15 at The First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck. Guest artists include Arlene Jones, organist, in Handel's Organ Concerto in F Major, op. 4, no. 4; and Carina Mechem, soprano, in Mr. Hofreiter's Fantasia on Psalm 51 for soprano, piano, chorus, strings, organ and timpani, op. 139. The church's Adult Choir will be featured in the Hofreiter work and Mozart's Ave Verum Corpus.

The Ars Nova Chamber Orchestra is a group of 16 area musicians. They rehearse once a week as an "in-residence" orchestra at The Pennington School, and perform at churches and schools in the New Jersey and Pennsylvania area.

There is no admission charge to the concert. A free will offering will be taken for the benefit of the orchestra.

VAN DYCK ON VIEW

At Art Museum. "Van Dyck as Religious Artist," featured at the Princeton University Art Museum is the result of a serious scholarly endeavor. The artist, who was born in Antwerp in 1599, was chiefly known for his portraiture.

His brilliant career as court painter to Charles I of England obscured his equally significant career as a painter of religious history. This latter aspect of his life as an artist is now documented in the present collection and its accompanying catalogue.

The current exhibition of paintings, preliminary oil sketches, prints and drawings leave no doubt as to this artist's significance as a religious painter. Although it was not possible to gather all of Van Dyck's major religious works, John Rupert Martin and Allen Rosenbaum have assembled a collection which allows an understanding of the artist's development as a religious painter and permits an appreciation of his work through the study of the paintings in conjunction with their developmental sketches and oil studies.

Although the nature of the painting is formal and the subject determines the essential character of each work, the sense of rich paint and color, the artist's technical virtuosity and his responsiveness to his medium combine to contribute an aesthetic dynamism that transcends content and form. Rich, painterly passages are to be found within carefully modelled, technically restrained sections of the paintings presented in dramatic color.

It is in the drawings and the oil sketches, however, that we find the expressive drama and sensitivity of the artist most apparent. These are preliminary studies for major paintings and include carefully worked figure studies, freely developed figurative compositions and small oil sketches.

In these there is a freedom of both expression and material use that seems to carry with it a sense of freshness and immediacy. They allow us to share a more spontaneous aspect of Van Dyck's work that is obscured in the more formal presentation to be found in the paintings.

The drawings are executed in a variety of media. Pen and ink, colored chalks and wash are employed to create carefully wrought studies and freely executed sketches. These provide insights into the development of the paintings that accompany them.

The oil sketches on wood and paper also reveal some of the artist's more spontaneous efforts. Like the drawings, they are fluid works executed with a great deal of energy and unguarded sensitivity.

The use of realistic imagery is demonstrated in an exhibition of contemporary prints from the Museum's collection.

Although the term realism conjures up specific forms, this collection reveals that there is a wide range of artistic possibility to be found within the concept. There are prints in the collection that capture their subject with such fidelity that only careful scrutiny confirms that they are not photographs. FW by Robert Cottingham is an aquatint of such exceptional skill that its tonal changes duplicate those found by the camera.

Charles Wells's sensitive linear portrait of Einstein and the silly cartoon fun of Red Grooms's multicolor salute, the "Spirit of Independence," offer more ways to interpret the image. The collection also includes works by Philip Pearlstein, Robert Motherwell, Jim Dine, Robert Rauschenberg, Roy Lichtenstein and Jasper Johns, each with his own style, many with original ways of restating the familiar.

At Western Electric. The rhythmic structure of the landscape is captured in "The Calligraphy of Nature," a collection of paintings by Marguerite Dornbach. Mountains, woodland, lakes and rivers are presented with a fluidity and an intricate structure.

There is a stylistic range to be found in the paintings that gives the show a somewhat uneven character. However, Dornbach is clearly a developing artist with a personal statement to be made. In the stronger paintings the combination of elaborate structure, light, almost naturalistic color and elaborate linear constructions combine nicely for a view of the landscape that captures the amenities and presents them in an original manner.

third annual Juried Photography Exhibition includes enough really good photography to make us resent the few clichés and obvious prints in the display. Landscape, pattern studies, journalistic statements and figurative works are among the many subjects. The collection is an interesting one with enough variety and poetic insights to make the viewing experience demanding and satisfying. Notable among other first-rate photographs is "Woodcut" by Linda Long, a low key color presentation of the surface of a piece of wood.

At Firestone Library. Photographs by Philosophy Professor Walter Kaufmann record his travels throughout India, the Middle East and other exotic locations. People and places are presented sensitively in interestingly composed prints. Many of the works are drawn from Kaufmann's three books, "Life at the Limits," "Time is an Artist" and "What Is Man?," a trilogy of Photography and poetry.

Action for Tiger Lacrosse and Tennis Teams Highlight of Weekend Sports Schedule Here

Princeton's lacrosse and tennis teams will be in the spotlight this weekend, playing at home.

Coach Mike Hanna's team will play Harvard in lacrosse Saturday at 2 with Palmer Stadium providing a picturesque setting. If the Tigers are able to top Brown, another strong contender, on Finney field this Wednesday, the outcome of the Harvard-Princeton game will decide to whom runner-up honors go in the Ivy League. The Crimson has already been beaten by Cornell, the defending champion, and the Ithacans will be heavily favored to turn back Princeton in a game at Ithaca on May 5.

Coach Dave Benjamin's tennis team, well on the way to another successful defense of its Eastern League tennis title, will face Columbia Friday at 3 and Penn the following day at 2 on the University Courts. The Tigers made Navy their fourth straight victim in league action at Annapolis Saturday, but had an unusually close call before barely winning, 5-4. Loss of four of the six singles matches made a sweep of the doubles obligatory.

Princeton's crew will travel to Cambridge Saturday for its annual competition against Harvard and MIT for the Compton Cup. Last weekend in Philadelphia, Penn swept the Schuylkill River against the Tigers, winning all five races, with the Quaker varsity trimming the Orange and Black by a length and a half in a time of six minutes to retain the Childs Cup.

The 150-lb. crew will row against Pennsylvania Saturday at Philadelphia. The lightweights dropped their first race of the season on Lake Cayuga last week when they lost to Cornell by a fifth of a second.

Princeton's baseball team, now bogged down with a 6-13 mark, will conclude its home portion of the Eastern League race when Columbia comes to Clarke Field for a 3 o'clock game Friday and a hard-hitting Penn nine plays a doubleheader starting at 1 on Saturday. The Tigers are 2-4 in the race and heading for another second division finish.

Other games on the schedule during the coming week are all on the road: Temple at Philadelphia Wednesday, Rutgers at New Brunswick Monday and Rider at Lawrenceville Tuesday. Temple, one of the top Eastern teams, is the strongest of these.

DARTMOUTH DEFEATED
In Lacrosse, 12 to 7. A Dartmouth lacrosse team that is somewhat stronger in the sport than the Green has been in a number of years was beaten by Princeton Saturday on Finney Field, 12 to 7. The victors controlled the contest from the beginning, taking a 4-0 lead and holding an 8-3 advantage shortly after the intermission.

Dartmouth rallied, shaving its deficit to 10-7 before the Tigers regained the momentum. Tom Gray played well in the Princeton goal and was credited with 17 saves.

Bob Thomas, junior attackman, had three goals and an assist and now has 11 goals in his last three games. High-scoring Dave Heubeck, another junior, assisted three times and scored twice, his two goals at the first of the game doing much for the Tigers' successful afternoon.

Carl Nissen, George Brush and freshman Steve Delligatti all added a pair for the Orange and Black. The defensive feat

BALL TEAM 1-4
In Week's Action. A last-inning 8-7 loss to Long Island University, a 9-4 triumph over Wagner, a drubbing in a league doubleheader by Navy and an error-filled 8-5 loss on Sunday to Trenton State marked the past week for the Princeton baseball team. It is a rare occasion when the

SPORTS In Princeton

Tigers can put good pitching, fielding and hitting all on display at the same time.

The Orange and Black appeared to have the game against a good Long Island team won when it began the top of the ninth with a 7-4 lead. However, when Mark Lockenmeyer, the Tigers' starter, walked the first two men to open the round, Mark Cascia replaced him and before the gates were closed, four runs had scored. The last three reached the plate when a two-out Texas Leaguer to center was misjudged with the bases loaded, allowing all aboard to score.

Wagner, no better than 3-13, was tamed by freshman Bob Holly for seven innings, Chris Cascia working the final two in relief. Holly, whose performance holds promise for the future, gave up eight walks and eight hits but was the victim of only one error as he won his first game in a Princeton uniform.

The victors banged out 14 hits, four of them by catcher Rod Shepard in his first four at bats. Captain Joe DeGeorge was credited with a single, double and triple.

Nothing went right at Annapolis on Saturday, where the Tigers opened with a run in the top of the first of the first game and never located the plate again. The run was the result of back-to-back triples by Ed Kish and Vic Kurylak. Lockenmeyer pitched, yielded only six hits but needed more support at the plate to win.

The second game saw the losers debited with the mark of a really struggling ball team when they made more errors (four) than they did hits (three). Hoon Mo Chung, who has yet to win this year, lost his third of the spring. In 14 innings, the Orange and Black produced just seven hits and a lone run.

The Cascia brothers were the victims of the five errors charged to Princeton in the Trenton State game, the winners assuring their triumph when they managed three runs in the fourth without hitting the ball out of the infield, so unskilled was the Tigers' fielding. Extra base hits by DeGeorge, Shepard and Kurylak (a two-run homer for the latter) kept the Orange and Black close but eventually the Tigers lost their 13th of the season. That's only two short of the number of defeats last spring, and they still have 15 games left.

PHS VS. ST. ANTHONY
In Key CVC Game Thursday. The season is still young but the race for Colonial Valley Conference league honors could be over for the Princeton High School baseball team if it doesn't win this week. After four games, the Little Tigers are 0-4 in the league with eight to play.

"We've got to put the brakes on the skid this week," acknowledged PHS coach Jim O'Neill. "We're not down yet; we just don't have that confidence."

"On game day, we've got to learn to peak a little better than we've done. It's a matter of patience on my part and perseverance on their part."

The key league game for PHS will be Thursday when PHS entertains St. Anthony here at 3:45. "At this point, St. Anthony is the best team in the league," states O'Neill, unequivocally. "They have a good club. They have 14 back and they are hitting the heck out of the ball."

On Monday, PHS will oppose West Windsor in Plainsboro, its sixth league opponent, and then play all six again in May.

Hitting Not There. "The main thing we've got to do is start hitting," said O'Neill. In the team's last start against Hightstown, PHS loaded the bases in the first inning with one down but the next two batters were fanned by Ram pitcher Howie Hoffman. "You can't do things like that," O'Neill added.

When the Rams came to bat, they pushed across six runs in the first, the big hit a two-run triple by Steve LaJoie. Hoffman went on to strike out nine, limiting PHS to six hits for his first win. Sophomore Peter Krasnoff, who O'Neill said took a long time to settle down, was charged with the loss.

Three of Princeton hits came off the bat of shortstop Brent Robinson, another sophomore. Robinson, O'Neill reported, was also sound in the field and "had the best day of his career." John Keaney, Chuck Kohli and Dave Reed had the other hits for PHS off Hoffman. Princeton's only run came in the second when Robinson singled home Frank Whittaker.

Earlier in the week, it was not so much a lack of hitting as a lack of the timely hit which cost PHS a 7-6 setback at the hands of Lawrence. "We left the tying and winning runs on base in the bottom of the seventh," observed O'Neill. "We haven't played a team yet that we couldn't have beaten."

Mark Adams and Jo Keaney each doubled for PHS, Adams driving in two runs in Princeton's three-run second inning. Designated hitter John Sapoch also drove in a pair of runs as PHS scored twice in the last inning but left runners on first and third as Cardinal hurler Chuck Krepp pitched out of several jams to get the win — his first.

Matt Kahny started for PHS but ran into trouble in the first when Lawrence jumped on him for three runs. He threw 30 pitches before he got the side out and O'Neill replaced him with Judd Petrone, who pitched four frames in making his varsity debut on the mound. Whittaker, like Petrone, an infielder, pitched the last two innings, Petrone being charged with the loss.

Each team had ten hits. Keaney had three and Adams two for PHS. Others were by teammates Reed, Sapoch, Whittaker, John Kandell and Krasnoff.

PHS GETS NO. 1
3-1 Over Allentown. One team's losing streak was going to end.

As Princeton High and Allentown faced each other Monday on the diamond in Allentown, each team was looking for its first win. It was the Little Tigers who broke through to win their first baseball game in five outings, 3-1, behind the three-hit pitching of Matt Kahny.

All of Allentown's hits were for extra bases but the Redbirds' only run came in the first. PHS tied it in the third on a Mark Adams single and scored unearned runs in the fifth and sixth as Allentown committed five errors.

Adams and John Keaney each had two hits for PHS. Also connecting off losing pitcher Ed Kowalski were Dave Reed, Frank Whittaker and Brent Robinson. Kahny evened his record at 1-1.

PHS IS 4-1 VICTOR
In Tennis. Princeton High continued its tennis dominance over other schools in this area last week with a 4-1 victory over Lawrence High. Scott Clark remained unbeaten with a 6-0, 6-1 victory over Rich Klubeck of Lawrence in the number one singles match. Also winning for PHS were Seth Thaler and the doubles teams of Richard Diefenderfer-Andrew Goodyear and Jon Drabek-Dan Willingham.

Lawrence's lone victory came in the number two singles when Dave Fundin defeated Abe Witonsky, 6-2, 6-3.

PHS WINS, LOSES

In Lacrosse. The Princeton High School lacrosse team lost a 9-7 decision to Lawrenceville Monday, but the Little Tigers' first loss in three games did not have PHS coach Bill Cirullo upset.

"They're very good," said Cirullo of undefeated Lawrenceville (5-0), currently ranked second in the state, "but, in turn, I think we were also good today." A spurt in the second period when the home team Larries scored five times turned the game around for Lawrenceville; PHS won the second half, 5-2.

Earlier in the week, PHS took a hard-hitting game with rival Princeton Day School, 8-5, to win "town honors" for the second year in a row. "It was a good win, a happy win," commented Cirullo, who described the game as "emotional."

PHS will pick up the tempo when it plays three times in the next week, starting with a game this Wednesday at 4 against Johnson Regional. On Saturday will come perhaps its sternest test of the season. At 11 in Palmer Stadium, as a pre-lim to the Princeton-Harvard game, the Little Tigers will oppose undefeated Columbia, the present top-ranked team in the state. Columbia, reports Cirullo, has displaced perennial state power Montclair, which suffered a 12-7 loss to Lawrenceville last week.

On Monday, PHS will oppose Livingston in north Jersey.

Five for Lion. Senior attack Tommy Lion enjoyed his most productive day against Lawrenceville, scoring five goals. Tommy Bolster added a goal and two assists, while Chris Harford had the other PHS goal. The PHS defense limited Lawrenceville standouts Kip Sparrow and Jay Budd, both Princeton residents, to three goals, Sparrow getting two. Steve Budd, one who didn't get away, is a sophomore middy on the PHS team. "He's going to be good," predicted Cirullo.

After PHS had taken a 1-0 lead in the Lawrenceville contest, the Larries came back to score a pair to lead at the end of the first period. But PHS was doing what Cirullo wanted: moving the ball, riding and disturbing the Red and Black squad.

Then, unaccountably, says Cirullo, his team lost its mental sharpness. "It's disturbing. They scored most of their goals off our mistakes. Lawrenceville is good enough so you don't make those mistakes."

In the second half, PHS narrowed the gap. "There's no question we were the better team in the second half; the kids showed a lot of character," said Cirullo. PHS outshot favored Lawrenceville, 35-20. "If it just weren't for the five-goal spurt..." said Cirullo, thinking of what might have been.

Town Tittle At Stake. The annual battle with PDS is THE game for both teams because the two squads know each other and the town championship is at stake. "I told them before the game that we were going to take the emotion out and view it just as another Pitt League game," recalled Cirullo. He was only partially successful.

"There was some tough hitting in that game," he said.

A LION ON ATTACK: Senior attack Tommy Lion scored five goals Monday but PHS lost a hard-fought 9-7 decision to Lawrenceville, its first setback in three games.

"Some of it not as legal as I would have hoped."

Bo Rice and Bob Flippin led PHS with three goals each, Flippin adding an assist. Lion scored one goal and had three assists, while Bolster scored once.

The outcome was questionable for a while, Cirullo said, as PHS led 1-0 at the end of the first period. At the half, PHS had increased its lead to 4-1 and was able to maintain its three-goal advantage throughout.

LAWRENCE BOWS, 77-54

To PHS in Track. The Princeton High School track team won its first dual meet last week when it defeated Lawrence, 77-54.

John Goeke (117-9½) led a PHS sweep in the discuss and Mark Knudsen (11-0) a sweep of the pole vault. Other first place winners for the Little Tigers were Jeff Marshall in the 100 (10.7), John Kellogg in the mile (4:44.6), Brad Ogilvie in the 880 (2:06.2) Tom Patrick in the two-mile (10:47.4) and Peter Sharpless in the high jump (6-2).

Coach Marc Anderson's Blue and White team also picked up points by capturing a number of second places: Eric Vieland in the shot and javelin, Andy Lesh in the 100 and 220, Tom Smart in the mile, John Perkins in the 440, Jean Snijders in the 880, Gabe Sasso in the discus, Rob Almgreen in the vault and Jim Bienkowski in the two mile. PHS also captured the mile relay, while Lawrence swept the 120 hurdles.

Scott Jiras was a double winner for the Cardinals, winning the 120 hurdles and the javelin, nosing out Vieland by six inches in the latter.

PHS GIRLS WIN FIRST

... and Second in Softball. After three losses, the Princeton High School girls softball team won twice last week.

Thursday, the Little Tigers outslugged Hightstown, 17-10, collecting 19 hits. Nancy Pesce raked the Rams' pitching for five hits in five at bats, including three doubles. She drove in six runs. Barbara Rice connected for two homers and sent four runs across the plate. Winning pitcher Ann Almgreen (2-1) did not allow a single walk but yielded ten hits.

Earlier in the week, PHS shaded Lawrence, 6-5, for its first win, behind a three-run homer by Rice in the sixth inning. Rice and Judy Grishma each had two hits. Almgreen got the win and was backed in the field by her teammates who committed only one error.

TWO WINS, ONE LOSS

For PDS in Lacrosse. The season finally began in earnest for the Princeton Day lacrosse team last week, as the Panthers split a pair of games with tough competition, beating Pingry 10-3, after an 8-5 loss to Princeton High.

Up until last Wednesday, coach Bob Krueger had no definite idea how well his players could perform under pressure. Rain had washed out two contests against strong opponents, Edison and Summit, and the Blue and White had only an 18-2 triumph over a woefully weak Rutgers Prep team, and a 10-3 win over Blair.

PHS provided a good test, and although the Panthers came up short, it was more a tribute to the play of the Little Tigers than any real PDS shortcomings. An excellent goalie and some good defense limited the PDS attack to only five goals, while PHS was able to score eight, many on long shots.

PDS had a 1-0 lead which lasted through the first period, but PHS found the range in the second and moved ahead. "We did most of what we hoped to do," Krueger commented. "We won the majority of the face-offs, and controlled the ball at least half the time. This was a very good team we were facing."

Tom von Oehsen tallied twice and Tim Murdoch, John Sweeney and Mike Shannon, once, as PDS outshot the visitors by a small margin. Jeff Olssen played well in the goal.

Two days later, the confidence gained in the PHS game paid dividends in the win over Pingry, but it was slow in taking effect. As late as the third quarter, PDS was losing 3-2, but after a few choice words by Krueger, the Blue and White turned it around completely, scoring seven times.

Shannon pumped in three, Chris Willich, two and Sweeney, Murdoch, Phil Ferante, Kent Wilkinson and Billy Ross scored once. Olssen had another good game in the goal.

The Blair contest was also close in the third period, before the Panthers pulled away. Penalties plagued PDS most of the way, hampering its ability to score until late in the game. Shannon and von Oehsen had three goals apiece, Murdoch, two. Chris Horan was in the nets.

PDS will continue against tougher opponents, meeting Montville Wednesday at home, Delbarton Friday away, and a re-scheduled game against Summit on Monday. A make-up against Edison was played Tuesday, too late to be included here.

An Ace for McHugh

"I never even saw one. I never expected it to happen to me."

What Larry McHugh, a sales clerk at the Country Squire on Nassau Street, never expected happened on Sunday at the Springdale Golf Course when he got a hole-in-one on the 128-yard 15th hole. He used a pitching wedge.

A Princeton High School player in 1967-68, McHugh has been golfing for 16 years. He was playing with Tom Brophy of Brophy Shoes, John Brophy (no relation) and John Gianacaci, another former PHS player.

After birdieing 10 and 12 and getting his ace on 15, McHugh had visions of a super back nine but he only managed to shoot par the rest of the way. He had a 76 for the 18.

TOURNAMENT HELD

At Springdale Golf Club. The annual Member-Member Tournament, which traditionally opens the season at Springdale Golf Club, was held Saturday.

An 18-hole Scramblers match, the event was won by Bert Edmunds, Art Sheeran, Jack Petrone and Pat Rulon-Miller. In a Scramblers, all members of a foursome play every shot until the ball is in the hole, but the best of four is selected each time and each player hits from that spot.

The winners carded a 66, five under par. Also recording a 66, but losing on a match of cards, were Bud Allaire, Jack Houghton, Mosey Gates and Woody Wirsig. Five other teams in a large field that included more than 100 members of the club tied for third place at 67.

ALL-STAR SOFTBALL

Jensen's CBS Team to Play. A softball game for the benefit of the United Way of Central Jersey will be held on Thursday at Mercer County Park, Old Trenton Road, West Windsor. Game time is 8:15 p.m., rain or shine.

The game will pit the Engineering Department team from Johnson & Johnson Products in North Brunswick against Jim Jensen's WCBS-TV All-Star Team.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for ages 17 and under. Tickets will be available at the park beginning at 7 on the evening of the game.

Jensen, anchorman and correspondent for Channel 2 News, organized his All-Star Team in 1967 and began playing games for charity in 1971, helping to raise more than $350,000. The team, composed of ex-minor and major league players, CBS employees and other television personalities, has won more than 450 games and lost 42 in 12 years.

HUN-NINE EVEN

Busy Week Ahead. A 16-1 romp sandwiched between two agonizing, one-run, last-inning defeats to larger schools last week left the Hun School baseball team all even at 3-3.

Coach Bill McQuade's Raiders will have little time to mull over what might have been. Coming up are four games next week, starting with Academy of New Church this Wednesday in Bryn Athyn, Pa.

Friday, Delbarton, at team Hun had defeated earlier this season, will be here for a 3:45 contest, and on Saturday at 1, Hun will tangle with Newark Academy, the defending prep school state champion in Elizabeth.

On Tuesday at 4, Hun will entertain Gill-St. Bernards, a newcomer to the Hun schedule.

"A tough one to swallow; one of the tougher losses to take," said McQuade of Saturday's 3-2 loss to Lawrenceville. Hun had been in charge behind pitcher Jeff Catelli until the last inning.

Jim Mahony and Greg Otto singled in runs to give Hun a 2-0 lead in the second. Lawrenceville (6-1) got one back in the sixth. In the last inning, with two men down and two strikes on the hitter, Catelli yielded a game-tying single. A play later on a routine grounder, pinch-runner Matt Davis scored on an overthrow of first base.

Catelli, who went all the way and who pitched out of a couple of jams that weren't his fault, took the loss, his third. "He's pitched well enough to win every game but defensive mistakes have hurt him," said McQuade.

Mahony Batting .500. Two days earlier, Hun exploded for 14 hits to rout Williamson, 16-1. Mahony led the assault with three hits, including a grand slam, to drive in six runs. He is currently clouting the ball at a .500 clip.

Sophomore catcher Rich Landis went 3-for-4, batting in two runs and scoring two. Since filling in behind the plate three games ago, when McQuade had to juggle his infield because shortstop Anthony Bevilacqua was ill, sending catcher Angelo Barbero to third, moving second baseman Tommy Zahn from second to short and third sacker Otto to second, Landis has been hitting at a .500 pace.

"It's one of the pluses that have come out of these games," said McQuade. "I can't take him out now."

Hun pitcher Arvie Powell aided his own cause with two hits, fanning nine in the five innings he worked. Keith Duvin pitched the last two innings and struck out three.

Catelli was the hard-luck victim again earlier in the week, when Hamilton edged Hun, 5-4, in extra innings. A clutch single up the middle in the ninth by Mike O'Rourke with a man on second, two out and an 0-2 count gave Hamilton the win.

Hun filled the bases with one out in the seventh but couldn't get a run across. Singles by Mahony and Zahn produced one run for Hun in the first but the Hornets came right back with three in the same inning, capitalizing on some Hun errors.

In the fifth, a two-run triple by Mahony, Zahn's double and a Dave Wheaton single produced three runs to give Hun the lead again. Hamilton tied it again an inning later.

"I thought we had 'em, the kids thought we had 'em," remarked McQuade. It marked the first time Hun had to play with three men out of position in the infield. "Hopefully, we'll improve from here on in," said McQuade.

REGISTRATION SET

For Little League Baseball. Registration dates have been announced for Little League baseball, sponsored by the Princeton Youth Baseball Association.

Registration for boys and girls, 9 to 12, will be 12:30 to 3 Sunday, May 6, and Saturday, May 12, at Grover Field. At each session, applicants will have an opportunity to catch and throw and run the bases. Players who participated last year do not have to re-register.

Registration fee is $10, which includes a team picture. Each applicant must provide a copy of his or her birth certificate at registration. To be eligible, a player must be 9 by August 1 and under 13 by the same date.

Checks will be accepted and should be made payable to Princeton Youth Baseball Association. After registration, each player will be placed on a team and the regular 14-game season will begin June 4. Games are played on Mondays and Wednesdays at 6 at the Community Park fields. The season ends on July 23.

All teams are sponsored by Princeton organizations or merchants. For further information, call John Dumont (924-9247) or Clark Lennon (924-7242).

GIBSON IS FIRST

In Sunfish Racing. In Sunday's racing on Carnegie Lake among six Sunfish skippers, Walt Gibson finished on top, capturing four firsts in five races. Dick Jesser was second and Orin Pierce, third.

After three weeks of racing, the spring series leaders are Gibson first, Jesser second, Dan Mazzarella third, and Pierce, fourth.

Races will now start at 2 on Sunday with the advent of daylight saving time.

STUART 14-3 VICTOR

Over PDS in Lacrosse. After an opening 3-2 loss to Chatham Township, the Stuart Country Day School lacrosse team came back with two wins last week.

Coach Laura White's SCD squad defeated Wardlaw-Hartridge, 9-3, in Edison, behind Suzanne Tassie's four goals, and the previous day trounced rival Princeton Day School, 14-3.

Against PDS, Tassie had seven goals and an assist, while Terri McKee also outscored the entire PDS team with five goals and an assist. Anne Marie Belli and Sharon Robbins each added single tallies, Belli also contributing five assists.

"We have a lot of depth," commented White, who pointed out that more than one-third of the school's students are members of the team -- 43 out of 130.

Tri-captains of the team are seniors McKee, Belli, and defensive player Lili Townsend. The team plays a 17-game schedule.

JUNIOR OLYMPICS SET

For May 5. The Princeton Recreation Department will hold its annual A.A.U. Junior Olympic Track Meet next Saturday, May 5, at 9 a.m. at the Princeton High School track.

All boys and girls under 9, starting with second graders who will have not reached their 14th birthday before January 1 are eligible. Events are in three age categories: 9 and under, 10 and 11, and 12 and 13. They include dashes, long distance running and field events. Winners in each category will be eligible to participate and represent Princeton in the sectional championships.

The meet will run from 9 until approximately 2:30. In case of rain, it will be held the following day, beginning at 1.

PDS NINE LOSES 2-1

After Two Victories. After an opening 7-0 loss to Lawrenceville, the Princeton Day baseball team outscored its opposition 43-6 in its next three games, before a fine Delbarton pitcher again silenced the Panthers' bats.

Scott Massegill permitted nothing more than a pair of singles en route to a 2-1 win over Tom DeVito's club last Friday. Although their hit production dropped dramatically, the Panthers nevertheless had an excellent chance to put this one in the win column their last time at bat.

Working on a no-hitter through six innings, Massegill gave up his two hits and a walk to load the bases with none out. Jamie Bartolomei looked at a third strike for the first out, but designated hitter Mark Blaxill hit a hard shot to second. The PDS runner on third was forced out at the plate, but the throw to first for the double play sailed into right field.

The runner on second scored to make it 2-1, but Mark Couzzarin grounded out to second to end the game. Tony Dell turned in another fine pitching effort, giving up only four hits but fell victim to some bad luck. One Delbarton run scored on a fielder's choice, but that man on third had been picked cleanly off second earlier, only to survive a run-down. The other run scored on a Texas League single.

Last Wednesday Jeff Freda pitched well against Saddle River, limiting the home team to just one hit through five innings. PDS locked the contest up with a seven-run fifth, highlighted by Freda's three-run double. PDS led 13-0 in the sixth, and gave the that buses are more economical than trains she said, and, outside the northeast, are used more than trains. When a questioner suggested that airlines received more in subsidies than railroads, she disagreed, and to a constituent who urged greater subsidies for public transportation, she said New Jersey's bus service is "perfectly ridiculous" and in need of "rationalization."

Russian Strength Feared. Would the Congresswoman support transfer of money from the military to non-military spending, she was asked, and she promptly replied "no."

She had, however, voted against the B-1 bomber and a nuclear carrier, but reported her concern about satellite pictures showing the build-up of Soviet arms.

Although as a member of the House of Representatives and not the Senate, she will not have an opportunity to vote on SALT II, she hopes it will be ratified, she said.

When a questioner asked, "Do you really believe the Russians would attack us?", Mrs. Fenwick asked, "Why are they building all that river-crossing equipment that shows up in the satellite pictures? That's for Western Europe, because that is the Russian's threat. Should we let them take over Europe?"

The questioner persisted: "We are destroying ourselves internally while spending militarily -- but I'm not an expert!" and when Mrs. Fenwick replied, "We have no conception here of what Europeans live under," she was applauded.

Trips Abroad Backed. The constituent who asked what Mrs. Fenwick thought of "all those junkets Congressmen take abroad," was taken aback by her reply:

"I should be in Africa right now -- I'm on that committee! Do the Russians really have a base in Somali? You cannot judge something until you've been there -- it's a duty."

Service on the ethics committee had showed her that Democrats and Republicans moved without partisanship to deal with problems, she reported, but she said that until she went to Washington, she had no idea how pervasive were special-interest groups.

"There is almost a jolly attitude," she told the audience. "I asked a colleague about money he'd gotten from an oil company, and he said, 'You bet we took it -- we'd asked for it!'"

"I have another colleague who isn't going to run again because it's so costly. If he takes money and votes as he's told, he's sold himself. If he takes it and votes his conscience, he's been -- in his words 'ungracious,'" she said.

She would like to see public contributions to Congressional campaigns, and is introducing a bill allowing challengers as well as incumbents the privileges of franked mail.

About Nuclear Energy. Had Three Mile Island's nuclear "event" changed her views on nuclear energy, Mrs. Fenwick was asked.

"We must insist on being told the truth," she replied, "and if the nuclear regulation agency isn't better at moving fast in an emergency, we should get another. I also think it is intolerable to have technology go wrong, and not to have worked out a waste-disposal system," and she twitted "male" technicians for not having solved the problem.

Praise for a Constituent

The shirt-sleeved man strode into Township Hall's meeting room, a vase overflowing with daffodils in his hands, a grin on his face.

"I'm Millicent Fenwick's first husband," he announced.

The Congresswoman smilingly accepted the joke and the flowers, and identified the man as Princeton resident Arthur Rittmaster, whom she has known through his work with retarded adults.

She spoke warmly and with high praise of his work, and said she had written about him to First Lady Roslynn Carter.

Earlier, she described the three choices a member of Congress has when the voting box lights up: "yes," "no," "present."

"Three buttons to push," she said, "and you must decide."

DINNER PLANNED

By American Jewish Committee. Ann Gips of Brookstone Road and Philip J. Albert of Trenton have been appointed co-chairmen of the American Jewish Committee's annual dinner.

The chapter's annual meeting will be held on Thursday, May 3, at 6 at the Nassau Inn. The event is dedicated to the memory of the late Judge Phillip Forman, who was an active leader of the American Jewish Committee on the local and national scene. Philip J. Albert, past chapter chairman and founding member of the Central New Jersey chapter, will deliver the tribute and present the award to Judge Forman's wife, Pearl.

Abraham Karlikow, national director of AJC's Foreign Affairs Department, will deliver the keynote address, "American Foreign Policy and Global Jewish Concerns." Founded in 1906, the American Jewish Committee is dedicated to fighting anti-Semitism and other forms of bigotry and building bridges of mutual respect and understanding among all religious, racial and ethnic groups.

STUDENTS INVITED

To Transportation Conference. A conference to acquaint high school and college students with career opportunities in transportation engineering will be held at Princeton University on Saturday.

Co-sponsored by the Society of Women Engineers and the Institute of Transportation Engineering, the all-day event will feature talks by professional traffic engineers and a demonstration of traffic survey techniques along Washington Road.

The conference, which is open to all high school and area college students, begins at 9 in Jadwin Gymnasium and includes a $3 registration fee. For more information, call Lynne Olsh at 452-4554 or Marcia Rabinowitz at 452-3341.
